SIR,

By desire of the Commander-in-Chief, I have the honor to forward for submission to the Right Hon'ble the Governor General, copy of a Report, dated the 6th Instant, from Major-General Sir J. E. W. Inglis, K. C. B., Commanding Cawnpore Division, of his recent expedition to Hurra, in which the portion of the 8th Irregular Cavalry, engaged under the Command of Captain A. M. Mackenzie, behaved with marked gallantry.

Dated Cawnpore, 6th April 1858.

SIR,

AGREEABLY to instructions received from His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief through the Chief of the Staff, I assembled the Force, noted in the accompanying Return, at Oonao, on the evening of the 4th, and marched for Hurra at 3 A. M. on the 5th. On approaching that place, which is surrounded on three sides by an immense mangoe tops, some Sowsars of the Enemy were observed by our advanced Cavalry to retire rapidly; as we neared the village two or three shots were fired, and information received that the Enemy, not more than 200 or 300 in number, were escaping to our left front. I immediately directed Captain Mackenzie, Commanding 8th Irregular Cavalry, to follow and ascertain their movements, and I have the honor to enclose the Report of that Officer, by which it will be perceived that he followed the fugitives, and cut to pieces the Rebel leader and 25 of his Men. I then entered the village of Hurra which is naturally an exceeding strong position, and having ascertained from Captain Evans, the Deputy Commissioner, that he considered it would tend more to the quieting of the District to establish Thannah there than to destroy the Fort, I placed 200 Matchlockmen and Burkundauzes in the post, which I have no doubt they will hold against any Force that be brought against them.

In conclusion, I beg to be permitted to bring to the favorable notice of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, the excellent services rendered by Captain Mackenzie, who, with the faithful remnant of his corps, most gallantly charged and destroyed a troublesome Enemy (Lultah Sing) and his body guard all of whom rallied around their leader and fought desperately. The conduct of the Native Officers, Non-Commissioned Officers and Men was admirable, as also was that of Assistant Surgeon Currie, who accompanied Captain Mackenzie, and whose care of the wounded afterwards was unremitting.

Captain Evans was with me the whole time, and I am much indebted to him for the valuable information his local knowledge enabled him to afford.

I reached Oonao on my return at 5-15 P. M., yesterday, and the Force marched into Cawnpore this morning.

I have the honor to be,

Camp Chandairee, 17th March 1858.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report, for the information of the Major-General Commanding Central India Field Force, that the Fort of Chandairee was carried by assault at 5 A. M., this day, by the Troops of this Brigade. The breach was reported practicable last evening and proved a fair one; the impetuous rush of the stormers of the 86th and 25th Regiments, carried everything before it. Captain Keatinge, Political Assistant, was, I regret to say, severely wounded whilst forward in the storming party. I beg to enclose a List of Casualties on our side. The loss of the Enemy is unknown at present; but, in and about the Fort, there are from forty to fifty bodies. Their flight was most precipitate, and they scattered over the surrounding jungle in every direction, with the exception of about two hundred, who, somewhat in a body, fled northwards. All the Guns in the Fort, eight of iron and two of brass, are in our possession. Major Robertson is in charge of the Fort, but I propose to make it over to the Sir Soobah of Schindiah, after having entirely demolished the bastions we breached. The town of Chandairee is now entirely freed from Rebels, and the inhabitants are resuming their occupations. The Sir Soobah has now charge of the gates of it, which, up to this morning, have been strongly held by the Rebels, who cut off all communication with it from my Brigade.

2. Lieutenant Dowker arrived here at half past 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, giving me information of the apprehension of Captain Abbott, with a considerable body of Irregular Cavalry, from the northwards. I instantly despatched a letter by a Native Officer's party of the 3rd Regiment C. H. C. to Captain Abbott, informing him of my intended attack on Chandairee this morning, and desiring him to invest the North side of the Fort.

* Till this day at noon at this place. This letter most unfortunately never reached Captain Abbott, and to its mis-carriage must be attributed the escape of some of the Enemy.

3. I shall forward a Despatch giving all particulars of the Siege of Chandairee, for the information of the Major-General, as soon as possible.

I have, &c.,

that in consequence of a communication received from R. Davies, Esquire, Magistrate of Azimgurh,

I marched from Camp Koelsa at about 3 A. M., on the 21st instant, and proceeded to Atrawlia, so as to arrive at the latter place at daylight, with detail as per margin.

Information had been received that a considerable body of Mutineers were in the neighbourhood of Atrawlia. I found them posted in several tops of mangoe trees, and advanced with skirmishers thrown out in front, the Guns being supported by a party of H. M.'s 37th Regiment and the Madras Light Cavalry on the flanks under the Command of Colonel Cumberlege.

I followed them for some distance as they retired, when shortly afterwards they were driven into the open country. The Cavalry were then enabled to act, and cut up a few of the Rebels, but the ground was so marshy and unsound for the Horses, that the pursuit could not be continued. Lieutenant Welsh, however, opened fire with a 24 Pounder Howitzer, and sending a shell right in the midst of them, completed the discomfiture of the Rebels, who quickly dispersed amongst the neighbouring trees. After this, I continued my march to Lorkha, which place I reached without any further occurrence, and set the village on fire. Having effected the object for which I marched from Koelsa, I quietly marched back to Atrawlia. The Men were halted in the neighbourhood of the village in a tops of trees, and breakfast was being prepared by the cooks, when news was brought suddenly that the Rebels were advancing in great force. I proceeded with some skirmishers to ascertain their strength and position, and found them strongly posted behind a mud-wall in the midst of tops of trees and sugar-cane. I then sent back orders to the Troops to advance; but the number of the Rebels increased so fast, and they covered such a large space of ground, that both my flanks were threatened. Accordingly I took up my position on a rising piece of ground slightly in rear. The Rebels attempted to turn my left flank, and I withdrew into and through the village of Atrawlia at about 12 P. M., and moved slowly on Koelsa, my flanks and rear being covered by the Cavalry. The Rebels, though they followed and fired at a distance, the whole way, never inflicted the slightest damage. Finding on my arrival at Koelsa that the Camp was threatened, and that the whole population in the district was distressed, I despatched a Squadron of Cavalry, supported by a small Infantry Picquet, to watch the Rebels. They were quickly charged by the Cavalry and suffered a heavy loss, twenty-one dead bodies being counted on the Field, besides wounded. Information was, however, received that a large body of Rebels, estimated at some 5,000, were advancing on the Camp. This created such a panic amongst the Camp-followers, that many of the hackery drivers left their carts, and all the Company's coolies ran away. Under those circumstances, and taking into consideration the position of my Camp, which was very untenable in case of a night attack, and that no supplies or liquor of any kind whatever could be obtained for the Men, I judged it expedient to retire upon Azimgurh, which I reached safely early this morning. In making this movement, I regret to say that, in consequence of many of the hackery drivers having run away, as I previously stated, I was compelled to leave a few tents and some baggage behind.

The loss of the Rebels, I judge, must have been some seventy Men killed. The Casualties on our side were very trifling; two Gunners grazed by bullets, one Trooper Madras Cavalry severely wounded, and one Sowar mortally, since dead.

Nothing could exceed the steadiness of the Troops under my Command, and I must particularly mention the able assistance of Colonel Cumberlege, of the 4th Madras Light Cavalry, Commanding, of Captain Pelly, Commanding Detachment H. M.'s 37th Regiment, Lieutenant Welsh, Bengal Artillery, for precision in firing, and moving his Guns to bad ground. The Men marched nearly forty-eight miles by road, exclusive of the ground that was gone over when in action, and upon very scanty fare during the whole time.

Lieutenant Rickotts, 43rd B. N. I., acted as Staff Officer to my Force, and he displayed great zeal and activity in his duty.

The Rebels consisted chiefly of Sepoys of Koer Singh's Force, and on the bodies of the slain were found Sutlej and other Medals.

I have the honor to be,

Your most obedient Servant,

No. 84 of 1858.—The Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India is pleased to publish for general information, the following Despatch from Major-General Sir Hugh Rose, K. C. B., Commanding Central India Field Force, reporting his operations against the Fort of Garacota, on the 10th and 11th February 1858.

R. J. H. BIRCH, Colonel,

Secy. to the Govt. of India, Mily. Dept.,
with the Governor General.

FROM

MAJOR-GENL. SIR HUGH ROSE, K. C. B.,
Comdg. Central India Field Force.

TO

MAJOR-GENL. MANSFIELD,
Chief of the Staff,
Lucknow.
Camp Comeiri, the 9th March 1858.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to state to you, for the information of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, as follows:—

The Rebels of the Bundelcund, Shaghur, Saugor, and Nerbudda Districts, having obtained ascendancy in these Districts, had, before my Force arrived at Rathghur, invested Saugor from all sides, except one; having occupied the Fort of Rathghur, to its West, the fortified Camp of Nowreowlee, and the Fort of Koraye, to its North-East, the Fort of Sanoda and Garacota, to its East.

The Fort of Rehle, to the South-East was gallantly held by Lieutenant Dickens, Commanding a Detachment of the 31st Bengal Native Infantry. The only road which was open, from Saugor, was the one leading to Nursingpore, and this road was frequented by Rebels, and only travelled by escorts.

The advance of the 2nd Brigade Central India Field Force, to Saugor, and its previous operations had relieved Saugor from any thing like investment, and opened its communications with the West and the North, so that I was enabled to communicate from Saugor, through Koraye, with Major Orr, Commanding the Advanced Guard of my 1st Brigade at Goomah, on the Mhow and Agra Grand Trunk Road; and single Officers and Stores had arrived unmolested at Saugor, from Mhow and Bombay, by the Schore, and Bhopal Road, both of which lines of communications I had opened with my two Brigades, in obedience to my instructions.

It now remained for my Second Brigade to open communications from Saugor towards the East, and to cut through the line which the Rebels had drawn from Duttiah and Jhansi, to the Nerbudda. As the best means of doing so, I determined to attack the Fort of Garacota.

Sir Robert Hamilton, Major Western, Deputy Commissioner of the Saugor District, and myself, were of opinion that it would be dangerous for Saugor to leave in the hands of the Rebels so important a stronghold on its right flank, more especially as it was garrisoned by Sepoys, of the 52nd and other Regiments, and the consequences and the moral effect would have been bad, if I had advanced against the Rebels to the North, with Garacota unsubdued in my rear.

Having, the day after my arrival at Saugor, detached Sappers and Miners under Lieutenant Prendergast, to destroy as much as possible, the works of Nowreowlee, twelve miles from Saugor, I sent Captain Hare, with his Detachments of all arms of the Hyderabad Contingent, to take the little Fort of Sanoda, where the Rebels had stores of Supplies; and directed him, at the same time, to render the ford of the River Beas practicable for the Siege Artillery for the operations against Garacota.

On hearing of Captain Hare's approach, the Rebels fled from Sanoda, which they had been repairing. He found large supplies of Grain. He destroyed the front faces, and restored a good deal of plunder to the villagers, who complained bitterly that the Rebels had robbed them of everything, and inflicted the greatest cruelties on them, to force them to give up their property; their nakedness and the barbarous mutilations of the persons of several of them attested the truth of what they said. However, Captain Hare is of opinion, that such is the anarchy caused by rebellion in this part of the country, that many of the plundered villagers, reduced to ruin, have become Plunders and Rebels themselves.

Knowing the good effect, which rapid operations have on the Enemy, and the value of the cool weather for the extensive operations which I had before me, I made the three marches from Saugor to Garacota in two days, and encamped on the 10th February, near the village of Bussaree, which is close to Garacota: a Detachment of 3rd Bombay Light Cavalry, well conducted by Lieutenant Dick, having cut up a picket of 16 Rebels, which, I had information, was posted at a village two miles from Garacota.

Garacota is strong in every way. It is situated between two rivers, the "Giddaroo" and the "Sonar," which may be said to act as ditches to it; it is surrounded, except on the East, by forest, jungle, and the towns of Garacota and Hirdanuggur, its defences are so strong, that in 1818, a British Force of 11,000 Men, with 28 Siege Guns was unable to make a breach in them, and the besiegers, running short of ammunition, the garrison was allowed to evacuate the Fort with the honors of war.

The evening of my arrival before Garacota, I drove in, with some Guns of the Horse Artillery, and Captain Lightfoot's Battery, and skirmishers of the 3rd Europeans, the Enemy, who wished to prevent our occupation of the village of Bussaree; the 3rd Europeans, covered by Artillery, storming some houses still more in advance, and taking a ridge, close to the walls. During the night and next morning, the Sepoys, in numbers, attempted to re-take the position, but were immediately repulsed by Lieutenant-Colonel Liddell, Commanding the Advanced Posts, and two 9-Pounders, under Captain Lightfoot, with which I had re-inforced him.

The next morning, Lieutenant-Colonel Liddell having reported to me that it would be desirable to take a hamlet, which had good views of and was near the North face of the Fort, I directed Lieutenant-Colonel Turnbull to shell it, and Lieutenant-Colonel Liddell to pass through some jungle and occupy the hamlet. The Mutineers came in numbers out of the Fort and an entrenched Camp to the South, to oppose the advance of the 3rd, their Buglers repeating the English skirmishing calls; but with the difference, that the 3rd went as rapidly forward as the Mutineers went to the rear, when the advance was sounded.

Lieutenant Dickens had written to me from Rehle, that when I attacked Garacota, he would advance from Rehle, and take possession of the Paunch Ghat a ford to the South of the Fort, from whence he could prevent the Rebels from escaping by the Dummoh Road to Shaghur, which would be their most probable line of escape. In order to communicate with this Officer, and connect my cordon of investment with him I made, with Brigadier Stewart, a complete reconnoissance of the whole of the country round Garacota. My guide assured me that Lieutenant Dickens could not hold the Paunch Ghat, because it was close to the defences of the Fort, and formed part of Garacota and Hardeenggur, which the Enemy held. This made me the more anxious to reach Lieutenant Dickens and assist him. I therefore pushed on the reconnoissance through Hardeenggur to the Paunch Ghat, where Lieutenant Dickens had not arrived. The Enemy had marked the ranges, and fired pretty accurately at the reconnoissance, but with no casualties. Skirmishers endeavoured to oppose my passage across the ford; but, with the 3rd Europeans and Irregular Cavalry, I drove them back, took their entrenchments on the opposite bank, and, crossing the second river returned to Camp, after thirteen hours' marching. The reconnoissance seized a noted Rebel, the Lumbardar of the village of Majiowa.

On my return, I found a letter from Lieutenant Dickens, stating that he had received subsequent information that Paunch Ghat could not be held, and had therefore not gone to it.

As the reconnoissance made the circuit of the Fort, I left Troops of all arms in position, investing the North-East, East, and South-East of the Fort; the Troops in Camp guarded the North and North-West. Having reckoned on the Rehle Detachment for the Southern investment, that part remained blank. On my return to Camp, I gave orders to Captain Hare to occupy, with his Detachment of all arms, the Paunch Ghat, which was at some distance; before he could arrive there, the Enemy had fled from the Fort by the Paunch Ghat and other outlets not watched in that direction.

However, I ought to add, that even if the Paunch Ghat had been occupied, it would have been quite impossible to have invested completely Garacota, with a force of my numbers, which, strictly speaking, was only sufficiently strong to guard its Camp, Field, and Siege Artillery.

My Force was even more than usually weak; as in order to protect Sangor in my absence, I had left there a Troop of H. M.'s 14th Light Dragoons and two Companies of the 24th Regiment. I had also sent the 31st and 42nd B. N. I. to Koraye to guard Sangor from the possibility of an attack from the North.

Every one on going round the Fort was surprised how the Rebels could have abandoned so rapidly a place of such strength, the thickness of the walls varying from fifteen to twenty-four feet.

Every thing gave evidence of a sudden panic; the Rebels had only half kneaded their cakes, and they left their Guns in the entrenched Camp, without attempting to carry them off. Their rapid abandonment of the Fort was the more remarkable, because the immense supplies, the native Mint found in the Fort, and other circumstances, induced the belief that the Rebels intended to make Garacota the seat of their Central Government; the only money now current in Garacota are the 13 anna Rupees, coined in this Mint.

During the reconnoissance, Lieutenant-Colonel Turnbull fired with the 8-inch Howitzer at a Gun, in the North face of the Fort, which was annoying the Troops in the advanced posts; the first shot of the Howitzer blew in the embrasure, dismounted the Gun, and blew off the head of the Sepoy in a red jacket with an English Medal, and two Clasp, who served it. I have no doubt that this good shot, one of the many good shots made under fire by Lieutenant Strutt, B. A., whom I beg to recommend to your Excellency as a promising Artillery Officer, made the Sepoys reflect, that many such Casualties might thin their numbers during the siege; but I think that the fall of Rathghur, and preparations for an investment, also intimidated them. I have observed that nothing alarms the Rebels more than a move to cut off their retreat.

I have the honor to enclose a list of Artillery found in the Fort, and of Casualties, which I am happy to say are light.

I sent off, immediately Captain Hare, with half a Troop of Horse Artillery; a Troop of H. M.'s 14th Light Dragoons, under Captain Need, and a Troop of the Hyderabad Cavalry, in pursuit of the Rebels by a route, which, from information I had received, I thought would enable him to cut into their line of retreat. They had, as I supposed, made a round to the South, and then turned northwards towards Shaghur.

Captain Hare came up with the rear of the Rebels as they had just crossed the river Beas, at the village of Bear.

The river was not practicable for Guns; Captain Hare therefore sent the Troop of H. M.'s 14th Light Dragoons, under Captain Need, and the Hyderabad Cavalry, across the river, after the Enemy; they cut up 70 or 100 of them, of whom the greater part were Mutineers of the 52nd and other Native Regiments. They had all abundance of ammunition and copper caps. Captain Hare speaks highly of the conduct on this occasion of Captain Need and his Troop. Captain Hare describes him "as a good and dashing Officer;" he killed with his own hand, five of the Rebels, of whom three were Sepoys, and pursued with his gallant Troop the Rebels till dark. I beg to recommend Captain Need to your Excellency, as well as Captain Hare for his intelligence and activity in pursuing and coming up with the Rebels.

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient Servant,

HUGH ROSE, Major-General,

SATURDAY, MAY 1, 1858.

Legislative Council of India.

The 24th April 1858.

THE following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of India, received the assent of the Right Honorable the Governor General on the 9th April 1858 (communicated to the Legislative Council on the 24th April 1858), and is hereby promulgated for general information:—

ACT No. XIV OF 1858.

An Act to extend the provisions of Act XXI of 1855 in the Presidency of Fort Saint George to Minors not subject to the superintendence of the Court of Wards.

WHEREAS, by Section XX Regulation V. 1804 and Section III Regulation X. 1831 of the Madras Code, the Zillah Courts, subject to the confirmation of the Sudder Adawlut, are authorized and required to appoint guardians to the Minor heirs of property of every description not subject to the jurisdiction of the Court of Wards, and by Clause 9 Section XX. of the former Regulation the guardians are required to provide for the education of their wards in a manner suitable to their rank and condition; and whereas, by Act XXI of 1855, better provision has been made for the education of Minors subject to the superintendence of the Court of Wards, and it is expedient that the same powers which are thereby given to the Collectors and Court of Wards in respect of the Minors under their superintendence should be exercised by the Zillah Courts, subject to the control of the Sudder

Adawlut, in respect of the Minors for whom they are required to appoint guardians; It is enacted as follows:—

I. The general superintendence and control of the education of every male Minor, for whom a guardian has been or shall be appointed by the Zillah Court, is hereby vested in the Judge of the Zillah Court of the District within whose jurisdiction such Minor's estate is situate, or, if such Minor is possessed of immovable property within the jurisdiction of more than one Zillah Court, in the Judge of such Court as the Sudder Adawlut shall direct.

II. The Judge of the Zillah Court, subject to the control of the Sudder Adawlut, is hereby authorized to exercise in respect of such Minor and the guardian of such Minor all the powers and authorities which, by Sections II, III, IV, and V, Act XXI of 1855, the Collector of Revenue or the Court of Wards is authorized to exercise in respect of Minors and guardians of Minors whose property is under the management of the Court of Wards.

III. The right of the custody of the person of every male Minor, for whom a guardian is appointed by the Judge of the Zillah Court, is hereby vested in the person appointed by the Judge of the Zillah Court, with the confirmation of the Court of Sudder Adawlut, either originally or upon the removal of a former guardian, to be the guardian of such Minor.

IV. All orders and proceedings of a Judge of a Zillah Court under the provisions of this Act shall be subject to the revision of the Court of Sudder Adawlut, and every person aggrieved by any such order or proceeding may prefer an appeal therefrom to the Court of Sudder Adawlut.

Appeal from the orders of a Zillah Judge to be to Sudder Court.

W. MORGAN,
Clerk of the Council.

Legislative Council of India.

The 24th April 1858.

THE following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of India, received the assent of the Right Honorable the Governor General on the 14th April 1858 (communicated to the Legislative Council on the 24th April 1858), and is hereby promulgated for general information:—

ACT No. XV OF 1858.

Act for the levy of Port-dues in the Port of Aden.

WHEREAS it is necessary to fix the amount of the Port-dues to be hereafter levied and taken in the Port of Aden in accordance with the provisions of Act XXII of 1855: It is enacted as follows:—

I. A Port-due, at a rate not exceeding the rate of one anna for every ton of burden, shall be chargeable in respect of every sea-going vessel of the burden of ten tons and upwards (except fishing-boats) which shall enter the said Port.

II. Provided that no such due shall be chargeable in respect of any vessel which, having left the Port, is compelled to re-enter it by stress of weather, or in consequence of having sustained any damage.

III. The Port-due chargeable under this Act shall not be chargeable oftener than once in the same calendar month in respect of the same vessel.

IV. Vessels entering the Port, and leaving the same within seven days without discharging or taking in any cargo or passenger therein, shall be charged with one-half only of the Port-due which would otherwise be chargeable.

V. Vessels entering the Port in ballast shall be charged with three-fourths of the Port-due which would otherwise be chargeable.

VI. This Act shall commence and have effect on the first day of May 1858; and the local Government shall on or before that date, pursuant to Section XLII Act XXII of 1855, declare, by notification to be published in the Bombay Gazette, the rates at which Port-dues shall be levied in the said Port subject to the provisions of and within the limits prescribed by this Act; and from and after the said date, no Port-due or fee shall be levied at the said Port, except under the authority of Act XXII of 1855 and of this Act.

No other Port-dues after the said date, no Port-due or fee shall be levied at the said Port, except under the authority of Act XXII of 1855 and of this Act.

VII. This Act shall be read with and taken as a part of Act XXII of 1855.

W. MORGAN
Clerk of the Council.

Legislative Council of India.

The 24th April 1858.

THE following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of India, received the assent of the Right Honorable the Governor General on the 14th April 1858 (communicated to the Legislative Council on the 24th April 1858), and is hereby promulgated for general information:—

ACT No. XVI OF 1858.

An Act to extend Act XXV of 1855.

WHEREAS it may be found expedient to establish at Ootacamund on the Neilgherry Hills a Subordinate Criminal Court constituted according to Regulation II. 1827 of the Code of Fort Saint George; It is enacted as follows:—

I. When the Governor in Council of Fort Saint George shall establish at Ootacamund on the Neilgherry Hills a Subordinate Criminal Court constituted according to Regulation II. 1827 of the Code of Fort Saint George, the provisions of Sections I and II of Act XXV of 1855 shall apply to commitments made by such Court; and it shall be lawful for the Judge of such Court to exercise powers of a Joint Magistrate, by appointment of the Government of Fort Saint George, all the powers of a Joint Magistrate.

W. MORGAN,
Clerk of the Council.

Legislative Council of India.

The 24th April 1858.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council of India on the 24th April 1858, and referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon after the 28th of July next:—

A Bill for bringing the Fort of Tanjore and the adjacent territory under the Laws of the Presidency of Fort St. George.

WHEREAS it is necessary to make provision for the future administration of Civil and Criminal justice within the Fort of Tanjore and the territory adjacent thereto which have lapsed to the East India Company in consequence of the death of the Rajah of Tanjore, and also to bring the said Fort and adjacent territory under the Laws of the Presidency of Fort St. George; It is enacted as follows:—

I. From and after the day when this Act shall come into operation, the Fort of Tanjore and adjacent territory shall be subject to the general Laws and Regulations which are or shall be in force within the territories subject to the Presidency of Fort St. George.

II. No Court shall try or determine any case, Civil or Criminal, with respect to which a final decision may have been pronounced before this Act shall come into operation by any of the Courts established by the said Rajah exercising jurisdiction within the said Fort of Tanjore and adjacent territory at the time of the passing of this Act.

Decisions of such Courts in original Civil suits to be considered final, if no appeal is made within thirty days after passing thereof.

III. A decision passed by any such Court in an original Civil suit shall be considered as final, if no appeal shall have been made against it within thirty days after the decision was passed.

IV. All original suits and appeals (other than special appeals) and all proceedings which shall be pending in any of the Courts mentioned in Section II at the time at which this Act shall come into operation, shall be transferred to the Courts and Officers to be established or appointed for the administration of Civil and Criminal justice within the said Fort and adjacent territory, according to their respective jurisdictions.

V. Appeals not pending at the time at which this Act shall come into operation but presented to the Zillah Court within thirty days after the passing of the decision appealed against, shall be received by such Court, and disposed of in the same manner as pending appeals.

VI. The general Laws and Regulations in force within the territories subject to the Presidency of Fort St. George may be applied and administered by the said Courts and Officers in the trial and determination of such suits, appeals, and proceedings. Provided that, if in any Civil case it shall appear that the application of the said Laws and Regulations would operate unjustly if applied to the trial and determination thereof, it shall be lawful for the said Courts to try and determine the same according to equity and good conscience. Provided also that no act committed within the said Fort and adjacent territory, before this Act comes into operation, shall be deemed an offence punishable under the provisions hereof, if at the time of the commission of such act the same was not contrary to the Laws then in force within the said Fort and adjacent territory.

VII. It shall be competent to the Civil Judge of the District to which the said Fort and adjacent territory may be annexed, to hear and finally determine any special appeals pending in any of the Courts mentioned in Section II of this Act, and any special appeals that may be preferred to the Civil Judge in cases in which special appeals would have been admissible by any of the said Courts, provided that such special appeal shall be preferred within sixty days from the passing of the decision appealed against.

VIII. Decrees passed by any of the Courts mentioned in Section II of this Act may be executed according to the Law in force for the execution of decrees within the territories subject to the Presidency of Fort St. George, or as near thereto as may be.

IX. This Act shall come into operation from such day as shall be fixed by the Governor of Fort St. George in Council, by notice to be published in the Government Gazette.

W. MORGAN,

Clerk of the Council.

Legislative Council of India.

The 24th April 1858.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council of India on the 24th April 1858, and referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon after the 28th July next:—

A Bill for granting exclusive privileges to Inventors.

WHEREAS Act VI of 1856, entitled "An Act for granting exclusive privileges to Inventors," was passed by the Legislative Council of India without the sanction of Her Majesty to the passing thereof having been previously obtained and signified in pursuance of the Statute passed in the seventeenth year of the reign of Her Majesty, entitled "An Act to provide for the Government of India;" and whereas Her Majesty's Law Officers having given it as their opinion that the Legislative Council of India was not competent to pass Act VI of 1856 without previously obtaining the sanction of the Crown, and the Court of Directors of the East India Company having in pursuance of the power vested in them by law disallowed Act VI of 1856 and having signified to the Governor General of India in Council their disallowance thereof, the said Act was repealed by Act IX of 1857: and whereas it is expedient, for the encouragement of Inventors of new manufactures, that certain exclusive privileges in their inventions

should be granted to them in India, and that exclusive privileges obtained under the said Act should be protected: It is enacted as follows (the sanction of Her Majesty to the passing of this Act having been previously obtained and signified in pursuance of the said Statute):—

I. The Inventor of any new manufacture may petition the Governor General of India in Council for leave to file a specification thereof. Every such petition shall be in writing in the form or to the effect mentioned in the Schedule hereunto annexed, and shall be signed by the petitioner or (in case the petitioner shall be absent from India) by an authorized agent, and shall state the name, addition, and place of residence of the petitioner, and the nature of the invention.

II. Upon such petition, the Governor General of India in Council may make an order authorizing the petitioner to file a specification of the invention.

III. Before making such order, the Governor General of India in Council may refer the petition to any person or persons for enquiry and report, and such person or persons shall be entitled to a reasonable fee for such enquiry and report to be paid by the petitioner: the amount of such fee, in case of dispute, to be settled by a Judge of one of Her Majesty's Courts of Judicature in a summary manner.

IV. If, within the space of six calendar months from the date of such order, the petitioner cause a specification of his invention to be filed in manner hereinafter mentioned, the petitioner, his executors, administrators, or assigns, shall be entitled to the sole and exclusive privilege of making, selling, and using the said invention in India, and of authorizing others so to do, for the term of fourteen years from the time of filing such specification, and for such further term (if any) not exceeding fourteen years from the expiration of the first fourteen years as the Governor General of India in Council may think fit to direct, upon petition to be presented by such inventor, at any period not more than one year, and not less than six calendar months, before the expiration of the exclusive privilege hereby granted.

V. An order authorizing the filing of a specification, or for extending the term of such exclusive privilege as aforesaid, may be made subject to any such conditions and restrictions as the Governor General of India in Council may think expedient.

VI. Every specification of an invention filed under this Act, shall be in writing, and shall be signed by the petitioner, and shall particularly describe and ascertain the nature of the said invention and in what manner the same is to be performed.

VII. Every petition for leave to file a specification and every specification filed under this Act shall be left with the Secretary to the Government of India in the Home Department, and every petition and specification shall be accompanied by a declaration in writing signed by the petitioner in the form or to the effect mentioned in the Schedule hereunto annexed, marked A and B respectively; and if the inventor be absent from India, the petition and specification shall also be accompanied by a declaration signed by the agent who shall present or file the same, to the effect that he verily believes that the declaration purporting to be the declaration of the inventor was signed by him, and that the contents thereof are true, which declaration shall be in the form hereunto annexed, marked C. The date of the delivery of every such petition and specification shall be endorsed on the same respectively, and shall also be recorded at the Office of the said Secretary.

VIII. If any person who shall make a declaration under this Act shall wilfully and corruptly make any false statement therein, he shall be deemed guilty of perjury, and shall be proceeded against, and upon conviction punished accordingly.

IX. No specification shall be filed until the petitioner shall have paid all fees payable under this Act, including the fees (if any) of the person or persons to whom the petition shall have been referred for enquiry and report.

X. At the time of delivering the specification for the purpose of being filed, the petitioner shall cause to be delivered to the said Secretary five copies thereof, of which

One shall be sent to and filed by one of the Secretaries to the Government of Bengal;
One shall be sent to and filed by one of the Secretaries to the Government of Fort St. George;
One shall be sent to and filed by one of the Secretaries to the Government of Bombay; and
One shall be sent to and filed by one of the Secretaries to the Government of the North-Western Provinces.

A copy of such specification shall be open at all reasonable times at the Office of each of the said Secretaries to public inspection upon payment of a fee of one Rupee.

XI. A book shall be kept in the Office of the said Secretary to the Government of India wherein shall be entered and recorded every specification and specification and every order made upon such petition or relating to the invention therein mentioned. Every specification shall be numbered according to the order in which it is entered in such book; and there shall be made in such book, in the margin of the entry of each specification, to every order relating to the invention.

XII. Such book, or a copy thereof, shall be open at all convenient times for the inspection of any person upon payment of a fee of one Rupee; and the said Secretary shall cause a copy of any entry therein, certified under his hand, to be given to any person requiring the same on payment of the expense of copying.

XIII. Every such certified copy shall be prima facie evidence of the document of which it purports to be a copy.

XIV. No person shall be entitled to any exclusive privilege under the provisions of this Act—

If the invention is of no utility, or

If the invention, at the time of presenting the petition for leave to file the specification, was not a new invention within the meaning of this Act, or

If the petitioner is not the inventor thereof, or

If the specification filed does not particularly describe and ascertain the nature of the invention and in what manner the same is to be performed.

XV. Every exclusive privilege under this Act shall cease if the Governor General of India in Council shall declare that the same, or the mode in which it is exercised, is mischievous to the public; or if a branch of any special condition on which the petitioner shall be authorized to file a specification, or upon which the term of the exclusive privilege shall be extended, shall be proved to the satisfaction of any of Her Majesty's Courts of Judicature, and if the Governor General of India shall thereupon declare that such exclusive privilege shall cease.

XVI. The importer into India of a new invention shall not be deemed an inventor within the meaning of this Act, unless he be the actual inventor.

XVII. A foreigner, whether resident abroad or not, may petition for leave to file a specification under this Act.

XVIII. An invention shall be deemed a new invention within the meaning of this Act, if it shall not, before the time of applying for leave to file the specification, have been publicly used in India or in any part of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, or been made publicly known in any part of India or of the United Kingdom by means of a publication, either printed or written or partly printed and partly written. The public use or knowledge of an invention, prior to the application for leave to file a specification, shall not be deemed a public use or knowledge within the meaning of this Section, if the knowledge shall have been obtained surreptitiously or in fraud of the actual inventor, or shall have been communicated to the public in fraud of the actual inventor or in breach of confidence: provided the inventor shall, within six calendar months after the commencement of such public use, apply for leave to file his specification, and shall not previously have acquiesced in such public use: provided also that the use of an invention in public by the actual inventor thereof, or by his servants or agents, or by any other person by his license in writing, shall not be deemed a public use thereof within the meaning of this Act.

XIX. If an actual inventor who, prior to the time of applying for leave to file a specification of an invention under this Act, shall have obtained Her Majesty's Letters Patent for the exclusive use of such invention in the United Kingdom, shall, within twelve calendar months from the passing of this Act, or within twelve calendar months from the date of such Letters Patent, petition the Governor General of India in Council for leave to file a specification of such invention, the invention shall be deemed a new invention within the meaning of this Act, if it was not publicly known or used in India at the date of the petition for such Letters Patent, notwithstanding it may have been publicly known or used in India before the time of his petitioning, under this Act, for leave to file the specification; Provided the petition for leave to file the specification shall state that such Letters Patent have been granted, and shall also state the date thereof and the term during which the same are to continue in force. Provided also that an exclusive privilege, obtained under the provisions of this Act by an inventor who has obtained Her Majesty's Letters Patent for the exclusive use of such invention shall cease to have effect, if such Letters Patent be revoked or cancelled: and that no such exclusive privilege shall extend beyond the term granted by such Letters Patent unless the same shall be renewed, in which case the exclusive privilege may be renewed under this Act for the extended term.

XX. No exclusive privilege obtained under this Act shall entitle the owner of such privilege to exclude any person from using the invention, who, prior to the 7th day of July 1855, used the same in India.

XXI. No exclusive privilege obtained under this Act shall entitle the owner of such privilege to exclude any person from using the invention, who, prior to the 7th day of July 1855, used the same in India.

XXII. No exclusive privilege obtained under this Act shall entitle the owner of such privilege to exclude any person from using the invention, who, prior to the 7th day of July 1855, used the same in India.

XXIII. No exclusive privilege obtained under this Act shall entitle the owner of such privilege to exclude any person from using the invention, who, prior to the 7th day of July 1855, used the same in India.

XXI. An action may be maintained by an inventor against any person who, during the continuance of any exclusive privilege granted by this Act, shall, without the license of the said inventor, make, use, sell, or put in practice the said invention, or who shall counterfeit or imitate the same. Provided that no such action shall be maintained in any of the Courts of the East India Company other than the principal Court of original jurisdiction in Civil cases within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the cause of action shall accrue or the defendant shall reside as a fixed inhabitant.

XXII. No such action shall be defended upon the ground of any defect or insufficiency of the specification of the invention, nor upon the ground of a misdescription of the invention in the petition; nor shall any such action be defended upon the ground that the plaintiff was not the inventor, unless the defendant shall show that he is the actual inventor or has obtained a right from him to use the invention either wholly or in part. Any such action may be defended upon the ground that the invention was not new, if the person making the defence, or some person through whom he claims shall, before the date of the petition for leave to file the specification, have publicly or actually used, in India or in some part of the United Kingdom, the invention, or that part of it of which the infringement shall be proved; but not otherwise.

XXIII. It shall be lawful for any person to apply by motion to any of Her Majesty's Courts of Judicature for a rule to show cause why the Court should not declare that an exclusive privilege in respect of an invention has not been acquired under the provisions of this Act by reason of all or any of the objections following (to be specified in the rule), that is to say—

Application to Her Majesty's Courts to declare exclusive privilege not to have been acquired on following grounds—

That the said invention is of no utility, or

That the said invention was not, at the time of presenting the petition for leave to file the specification, a new invention within the meaning of this Act, or

That the petitioner was not the inventor thereof, and, in addition thereto, either that the applicant was the inventor, or that he has obtained a right from the inventor to use the said invention either wholly or in part, or that the inventor has dedicated or made known the invention to the public or has acquiesced in the public use thereof, or

That the specification filed does not particularly describe and ascertain the nature of the invention or in what manner the same is to be performed, or

That the petitioner has knowingly or fraudulently included in the petition or specification, as part of his invention, something which was not new or whereof he was not the inventor, or

That the petitioner has knowingly or fraudulently included in the petition or specification, as part of his invention, something which was not new or whereof he was not the inventor, or

That the petitioner has willfully made a false statement in his petition, or

That some part of the invention, or the manner in which that part is to be performed as described in the said specification is not thereby sufficiently described and ascertained, and that such defect or insufficiency was fraudulent and is injurious to the public.

XXIV. Any person may, in like manner, apply to any of Her Majesty's Courts of Judicature for a rule to show cause why the Court should not declare that an exclusive privilege has not been acquired under the provisions of this Act in respect of any part of the invention to be specified in the rule by reason of all or any of the objections following (to be specified in the rule), that is to say—

That such part of the invention is wholly distinct from the other part thereof and is of no utility, or

That such part of the invention was not, at the date of the petition for leave to file the specification, a new invention within the meaning of this Act, or

That the petitioner was not the inventor of that part of the invention, and in addition thereto, either that the applicant was the inventor of that part, or that he has obtained a right from the inventor to use it, or that the inventor has dedicated or made known the same to the public or has acquiesced in the public use thereof, or

That that part of the invention, and the manner in which it is to be performed, is not sufficiently described and ascertained in the specification, and that such defect or insufficiency is injurious to the public.

XXV. It shall be lawful for the Advocate General of the East India Company at any of the Presidencies of Fort William in Bengal, Fort St. George, and Bombay, or any other person, by order of the Governor General in Council, to apply to any of the said Courts of Judicature for a rule calling upon the petitioner, his executors, administrators, or assigns, to show cause why the question of the breach of any special condition upon which the leave to file a specification has been granted, or any other question of fact on which the revocation of the exclusive privilege by the Governor General in Council under the power herein before reserved may, in the judgment of the said Governor General in Council, depend, should not be tried in the form of an issue directed by the said Court; and if the rule be made absolute, the Court, unless the breach or other matter of fact be admitted, may thereupon direct such issue to be tried, and certify the result of such trial to the Governor General in Council. The costs of such trial, and also the costs of any proceedings in any of the said Courts of Judicature under the provisions of this Act, shall be in the discretion of the Court.

Application by Advocate General on breach of special condition.

That the petitioner was not the inventor thereof, and, in addition thereto, either that the applicant was the inventor, or that he has obtained a right from the inventor to use the said invention either wholly or in part, or that the inventor has dedicated or made known the invention to the public or has acquiesced in the public use thereof, or

XXVI. Notice of any rule obtained or proceeding taken under either of the last three preceding Sections shall be served on all persons appearing to be proprietors or to have shares or interests in the exclusive privilege under the provisions of Section XXIV of this Act, and it shall not be necessary to serve such notice on any other persons.

XXVII. Any of the said Courts of Judicature, if it think fit, may direct an issue for the trial, before the same Court or any other Court of Her Majesty or any principal Court of original jurisdiction in Civil cases of the East India Company, of any question of fact arising upon an application under Sections XXIII, XXIV, or XXV of this Act, and such issue shall be tried accordingly in a summary manner, and if the issue be directed to another Court, the finding shall be certified by the Court before which the same was tried, to the Court directing the issue. If the issue be directed to any of Her Majesty's Courts of Judicature, the Court by which the issue is tried may, before the finding is certified, direct a new trial of such issue according to the usual course and practice of such Court. If the issue be directed to a Court of the East India Company, the finding shall not be subject to appeal to any other Court of the said Company, but the evidence taken upon the trial shall be recorded, and a copy thereof, certified by the Judge, shall be transmitted, together with any remarks he may think fit to make thereon, to the Court by which the issue was directed; and such Court may either act upon the decision of the Court which tried the issue, or direct a new trial if it shall appear necessary.

XXVIII. If it shall appear to any of the said Courts of Judicature at the hearing of any application under the provisions of Sections XXIII or XXIV of this Act that, by reason of any of the objections therein mentioned, the said exclusive privilege in the invention or in any part thereof has not been acquired, the Court shall give judgment accordingly, and shall make such order as to the costs of and consequent upon the application as it may think just; and thereupon the petitioner, his executors, administrators, and assigns shall, so long as the judgment continues in force, cease to be entitled to such exclusive privilege.

XXIX. If the Court at the hearing of any such application as last aforesaid, shall think that the petitioner has, in the description of his invention in the petition or specification, included something which at the date of the petition was not new or whereof he was not the inventor, or that the specification is in any particular defective or insufficient, but that the error, defect, or insufficiency was not fraudulently intended, the Court may adjudge the said exclusive privilege to have been acquired and to be valid, save as to the part thereof affected by such error, defect, or insufficiency, or if the Court shall think that the error, defect, or insufficiency can be amended without injury to the public, they may adjudge the exclusive privilege in the whole of the invention to be valid, and may, upon such terms as shall appear reasonable, order the specification to be amended in any of the said particulars; and thereupon the petitioner, his executors, administrators, or assigns shall, within the time limited by the said Court for the purpose, file a specification amended according to such order. Provided that no amended specification shall have the effect of extending or enlarging the exclusive privilege before acquired.

XXX. An exclusive privilege shall not be defeated upon the ground that there is any misdescription of the invention in the petition, unless such misdescription was fraudulent.

XXXI. Whenever it shall be adjudged by any of the said Courts of Judicature that an exclusive privilege as to the whole or any part of an invention has not been acquired, the said Secretary to the Government of India shall, upon the production of the judgment or order, cause an entry thereof to be made in the said book hereinafter directed to be kept, and shall cause a reference to such entry to be made in the margin of the entry of the specification contained in such book.

XXXII. If, upon proceedings instituted within two years from the date of a petition to file a specification, the actual inventor shall prove to the satisfaction of any of Her Majesty's Courts of Judicature or of the principal Court of the East India Company having jurisdiction in Civil cases within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the defendant shall reside as a fixed inhabitant, that the petitioner was not the actual inventor, and that at the time of the petition he knew or had good reason to believe that the knowledge of the invention was obtained by himself or by some other person surreptitiously or in fraud of the actual inventor, or by means of a communication made in confidence by the actual inventor to him or to any person through whom he derived such knowledge, the Court may compel the petitioner to assign to the actual inventor any exclusive privilege obtained under this Act and to account for and pay over the profits thereof.

XXXIII. In any action for the infringement of such exclusive privilege the plaintiff shall deliver with his plaint particulars of the breaches complained of in the said action; and the defendant, in pleading thereto, shall deliver with his pleas particulars of the grounds (if any) upon which he means to contend that the plaintiff is not entitled to an exclusive privilege in the invention. In like manner, upon any application to any of the said Courts of Judicature under Sections XXIII, XXIV, or XXV of this Act, the applicant shall deliver particulars of the objections on which he means to rely. At the trial of any such action or issue, no evidence shall be allowed to be given in support of any alleged infringement or of any objection impeaching the validity of such exclusive privilege which shall not be contained in the particulars delivered as aforesaid. If it be alleged that the invention was publicly known or used prior to date of the petition for leave to file such specification, the places where and the manner in which the invention was so publicly known or used shall be stated in such particulars. Provided, always, that it shall be lawful for any Court in which the action or proceeding is pending or in which the issue is tried, to allow the plaintiff or defendant respectively to amend the particulars delivered as aforesaid upon such terms as shall seem fit.

XXXIV. A book shall be kept in the Office of the Secretary to the Government of India in the Home Department (such book to be open to inspection without fee) wherein every person filing a specification under this Act shall cause to be stated, under a number corresponding with the number of the specification, some place in India where service of any rule or proceedings for the purpose of cancelling or revoking his exclusive privilege may be made. All persons, partnerships, or Companies from time to time being proprietors of, or having shares or interests in, such exclusive privilege, shall cause to be entered in such book, under such number as aforesaid, their names, together with the name of some place for the service of such proceedings as aforesaid. All such rules and proceedings as aforesaid shall be deemed sufficiently served on any such person, partnership, or Company, if a copy thereof be left at the place entered in such book or (if any other place be substituted for the same by entry in the said book) at the place last substituted, by delivering the same to any person resident at, or in charge of, such place: or, if there be no person resident at, or in charge of, such place, or if such place be not within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court, by causing such rule or proceeding to be sent by post, by a registered letter, directed to such person, partnership, or Company at such place, and if any such person, partnership, or Company shall neglect to make or cause to be made such entry, then service of such rule or proceeding may be effected by affixing a copy thereof to some conspicuous part of the Court-House or in such other manner as the Court may direct.

XXXV. Act VI of 1856 shall be of the same force and effect in respect to every petition and specification filed under the provisions thereof before the Act was repealed, and in regard to all proceedings consequent thereon or in relation thereto, and for the purpose of every thing done under that Act while it continued in force as if previously to the passing of the said Act the sanction of Her Majesty to the passing thereof had been obtained and signified in pursuance of the Statute passed in the seventeenth year of the reign of Her Majesty, entitled "An Act to provide for the Government of India," and as if the said Act had not been repealed; save only that the term of fourteen years in Section IV of the Act first mentioned shall be computed from the time of the passing of this Act instead of from the time of filing the specification, and that no exclusive privilege shall cease to have effect by virtue of the provisions of Section XVI, if the invention be put in practice in India within the period of two years from the time of the passing of this Act.

XXXVI. Every petition for leave to file a specification under the provisions of this Act, or for the extension of the term of an exclusive privilege, shall be written or printed on stamped paper of the value of one hundred Rupees.

XXXVII. In the construction of this Act, the following words and expressions shall have the meanings hereby assigned to them, unless there be some thing in the subject or context repugnant to such construction.

Words importing the singular number shall include the plural number, and words importing the plural number shall include the singular number.

Words importing the masculine gender shall include females.

The word "invention" shall include an improvement.

The word "manufacture" shall be deemed to include any art, process, or manner of producing, preparing, or making an article, and also any article prepared or produced by manufacture.

The word "printed" shall include "lithographed."

The words "inventor" and "actual inventor" shall include the executors, administrators, or assigns of an inventor or actual inventor as the case may be.

The word "assigns" shall include grantees of the sole use or benefit in India of an invention, or of the sole use of an exclusive privilege for a limited time.

The word "India" shall mean the territories for the time being in the possession and under the Government of the East India Company.

The words "Governor General in Council" shall include the "President in Council."

The words "Secretary to the Government of India" shall include any Under Secretary to the said Government.

Clerk of the Council.

Legislative Council of India.

The 24th April 1858.

THE following Bill, read a second time in the Legislative Council of India on the 3rd April 1858
and referred to a Select Committee, will be reported on (under a suspension of the Standing Orders) at the first Meeting of the Council after the 1st of June next :—

A Bill to provide for the administration of the Estate and for the payment of the debts of the late Nabob of the Carnatic.

WHEREAS by Act I of 1844 it is enacted that

Preamble.

no writ or process shall at any time be sued forth or prosecuted against the person, goods, or property of His Highness the Nabob of the Carnatic, or of such other person as therein mentioned, unless such writ or process shall be so sued forth with the consent of the Governor in Council of Madras first had and obtained as therein mentioned; and that any writ or process which shall at any time be sued out or prosecuted against the person or goods
or property of His Highness or of any such person without such consent, shall be utterly null and void; and whereas the Nabob died leaving debts
and liabilities to a large amount unsatisfied, some of which were contracted by himself (and some by Ajeem Jah Bahadour as Nabob Regent or Naib-i-Mooktar during the infancy of the late Nabob);
and whereas it is doubtful whether the creditors
of the Nabob have, without the consent of the Governor in Council of Madras, any remedy for enforcing their claims against the goods or property which belonged to the said Nabob at the time of his death; and especially whether any part of the property left by the said late Nabob, which was of the nature of State or Public property,
can be made available for payment of such claims;
and whereas the East India Company is willing to give up any right which it has to any part of such property which is in the nature of State or Public property, and to allow the whole property, real and personal, of whatever kind, left by the late Nabob, after appropriating to the payment of his debts such portion thereof as is liable to the payment thereof, to be applied towards making provision for the family and dependents of the late Nabob; and whereas the said East India Company is also willing to pay in full, to such of the creditors as shall be willing to accept the same,
in the manner herein mentioned, all such debts as shall be proved to have been fairly and justly contracted by the said Nabob or on his behalf
during his infancy by the said Ajeem Jah as Nabob Regent, such debts to be estimated in respect of moneys at the amounts which may be proved to have been actually advanced to or paid for the use of the Nabob, and in respect of goods supplied or other matters at the amount which shall be proved to have been the fair and actual value
thereof at the time when such debts were incurred, together with interest on such debts at a rate not exceeding six per centum per annum, the property of the said Nabob being applied in the first instance for that purpose, but any deficiency therein being made good by the said East India Company; and
whereas the said Nabob is alleged to have mortgaged
and created divers liens and securities upon certain portions of his property, of which or some of which the validity and extent of operation, especially as against the creditors of the said Nabob, is doubtful, and it may also be doubtful whether the same can be enforced in any of the ordinary Courts of Justice; and it is expedient that provision should be made for giving effect to the said mortgages, liens, and securities so far as the same shall have been created bond fide and for valuable consideration, and for affording a simple mode of ascertaining the rights of the parties claiming under such mortgages, liens, and securities: and whereas it is also alleged that various conveyances, deeds, and instruments have been executed by the late Nabob without valuable consideration in favor of persons who have under color thereof executed or created mortgages or assignments of, or securities or liens on the property comprised therein: and whereas it is expedient that provision should be made for investigating all such claims, and for protecting the bond fide creditors of the said Nabob from the effect of any conveyances executed by the Nabob under such circumstances as rendered them void as against such creditors, and for affording a simple mode of ascertaining the rights of the parties claiming in respect thereof as well as of parties claiming to be creditors of the Nabob: It is enacted as follows:—

I. The Governor in Council of Madras shall, immediately after the passing of this Act, appoint such person as he may think fit to act under the orders of the Supreme Court of Judicature at Madras in the administration of the property of whatever nature left by the said late Nabob. The person so appointed shall be designated "The Receiver of the Carnatic property," and shall have power to collect and take possession of all such property, and shall hold the same according to the provisions of this Act.

II. The said Receiver shall be entitled to receive such a commission, not exceeding five per centum upon the amount or value of the property collected by and distributed under the provisions of this Act, as the said Governor in Council shall appoint, which commission shall be charged to the estate.

III. The Governor in Council of Madras shall have full power to suspend or remove any person appointed such Receiver as aforesaid, and also from time to time to fill up any vacancy in such office which may be occasioned by death, retirement, suspension, or removal.

IV. Such Receiver shall represent the estate of the said late Nabob in all proceedings relating thereto under this Act or otherwise, and shall do and perform all acts in performance of his duties or office under his official designation, and in all proceedings whether at law or in equity he shall be so styled and designated; and no proceedings in which the Receiver may be a party shall abate by reason of the death, retirement, suspension, or removal from office of any such Receiver, but the same shall be continued and carried on as if no such death, resignation, suspension, or removal had accrued.

V. The Receiver shall have full power to collect, take possession of, and get in all property, moveable or immovable, belonging to the said late Nabob at the time of his death, and if necessary to sue for and recover the same in his own name as representing the said estate of the said Nabob under this Act, and to realize by sale or otherwise the value of the said property; and he shall proceed to collect, take possession of, and realize the same with all convenient speed immediately after the passing of this Act.

VI. Upon a suit being instituted as herein after mentioned, the said Receiver shall be deemed subject to the orders and general practice of the said Court in the same manner as any other Receiver specially appointed by the said Court, except that he shall not be called upon by the said Court, to give security.

VII. It shall be lawful for any creditor or person interested in the proper administration of the estate and effects of the said Nabob, to apply for and obtain in a summary way, in the manner provided by Act VI of 1854, upon a summons to be served upon the person appointed Receiver, an order for the administration of the estate and effects of the said Nabob; and such order, in addition to the ordinary directions contained in the usual order for the administration of the moveable and immovable estate of a deceased Mahomedan, shall direct that all creditors who may hold any mortgage or security upon any part of the estate or effects of the said Nabob shall come in and prove their claims and establish their securities and the consideration for the same, or in default thereof that they shall be barred and excluded from all benefit of their said securities; and the said Court shall also by the said order give such directions as to the notices to be issued to such creditors and otherwise, and shall direct such enquiries as to the Court shall seem fit.

VIII. Upon such order being made, the Court shall take an account of all debts and liabilities which were due from the said Nabob at the time of his death, and also of all the estate and effects of the said Nabob liable and available for the payment of such debts and liabilities; and shall also determine whether any and which of the said creditors had any and what mortgage or security upon any and what portion of the property of the said Nabob and for any and what consideration or amount, and whether such mortgage or security constituted a valid charge upon the whole or any and what portion of the property included therein.

IX. Every creditor of the said Nabob, who shall not come in and establish his claim under and according to the said order, shall be barred from all benefit of the said claim; and all persons who may hold or claim under any mortgage or security executed by the said Nabob or on his behalf, of or upon any property whatsoever which belonged to the said Nabob in his lifetime, who shall fail

Receiver to collect, sue for, and realize the property.

Upon a suit being instituted under this Act, Receiver to be subject to the orders of the Court.

Suit for administration of estate.

Special directions to be given as to creditors holding mortgages or other securities.

Accounts to be taken.

Creditors or mortgagees not coming in to prove claims, to be barred.

to come in and establish the same or the consideration for the same under and according to such order, shall be barred from all benefit of such mortgage or security: and the said Court may order the property affected thereby to be delivered up to the said Receiver.

X. In case it shall appear to the satisfaction of the Court that there is good reason to believe that any conveyance or other instrument executed by the said late Nabob in his lifetime was executed under circumstances which rendered the same void as against creditors, the said Court may, at any time pending the suit, order the person or persons claiming under such conveyance or instrument to come in and establish his claim under the same; and in default of compliance with the said order, the said Court may declare the said conveyance or instrument to be void as against the creditors of the said Nabob, and may order the property thereby conveyed to be delivered up to the said Receiver.

XI. No action or suit shall be commenced or prosecuted by any creditor of the said Nabob against any person as the representative of the said Nabob, otherwise in accordance with the provision of this Act; and all actions and suits, which at the time of the commencement of this suit shall be pending, the suit of any such creditor against any person as representative of the said Nabob, shall, if the costs of such suit, if the said Court consider it reasonable, to be paid out of the assets of the said late Nabob.

XII. Any person claiming to be a creditor of the said late Nabob, who within the period of three months from the passing of this Act shall file in the Office of the Master of the said Supreme Court a written declaration stating that he is willing to receive in full discharge of his debt such amount as shall be ascertained by the said Supreme Court to have been justly and fairly due to him from the said late Nabob at the time of his death and to remain unpaid (such amount to be ascertained in respect of moneys at the amount actually advanced to or paid for the use of the said Nabob, in respect of goods supplied or other matters the amount which shall be proved to have been the fair and actual value thereof at the time such debts were incurred) together with interest (if any) not exceeding the rate of six per centum per annum as shall be awarded by the said Court; and that he is willing to give any mortgage or security which he may hold any part of the property of the said late Nabob shall be entitled, upon giving up such mortgage or security to the said Receiver, to the amount of his claim ascertained by the said Court in manner hereinafter mentioned.

XIII. The said Court, upon the application of such creditor, shall appoint a day for ascertaining the amount of his debt, and reasonable notice of the day so appointed shall be given to the Chief Secretary to the Government of Madras.

XIV. Upon every investigation under Section XV of this Act, the East India Company may appear and be heard by Counsel.

XV. Upon the day so fixed or upon any other day to which the Court may think fit to postpone the investigation, the Court shall proceed to ascertain and determine in a summary way what sum was due from the said Nabob at the time of his death to the claimant. Provided that, in fixing the amount of any debt or claim under the provisions of this Section, the said Court shall not allow to any person claiming to be a creditor, in respect of money lent or advanced, any larger sum than the amount proved to have been actually advanced, together with simple interest thereon not exceeding the rate of six per centum per annum, notwithstanding any higher rate of interest may have been agreed to be paid; and that the said Court shall not allow to any person claiming to be a creditor, in respect of goods supplied or of any other matters, any larger sum than the amount which shall be proved to have been the fair and actual value thereof at the time when such debt was incurred, without reference to the price or sum which may have been agreed to be paid for or in respect thereof, together with simple interest thereon not exceeding the rate aforesaid, if the Court shall consider that the claimant is entitled to recover interest. If it shall appear to the said Court that the said debt remains due, the said Court shall issue an order for the payment of the amount so ascertained to be due, together with such interest thereon (if any) not exceeding six per centum per annum as the said Court shall consider that such creditor is fairly and justly entitled to recover. The Court may also, if it consider it reasonable so to do, order the costs of proving such debt to be paid out of the estate of the said late Nabob.

XVI. The amount ascertained by the Court to be due to the claimant upon the investigation under the last preceding Section, together with such interest and costs (if any) as shall be awarded by the Court, shall be paid to the claimant by the said Receiver within ten days after a copy of the order of the said Court shall have been served upon him. In case no sufficient assets belonging to the estate of the said late Nabob shall be in the hands of the Receiver to enable him to pay such amount, the same shall be forthwith paid out of the public Treasury of the East India Company. The amount so found due to such creditor as aforesaid for principal and interest shall be treated as a debt due to such creditor in taking an account of the debts and liabilities and of the estate and effects of the said Nabob in such administration suit as aforesaid.

XVII. If, after the decree of the Court in such administration suit as aforesaid, it shall appear that the amount paid to any such creditor out of the assets of the said Nabob exceeds the amount which under such decree would have been payable to such creditor if payment had not been made to him under the last preceding Section, the difference between the amount so paid and the amount which would have been payable shall be made good by the East India Company and shall be paid to the Receiver to enable him to carry out the decree in respect of the creditors remaining unpaid.

XVIII. No action or suit shall be brought against the East India Company or any person for any thing done under the provisions of this Act, or for or by reason of any act, reasonable or proper, for the protection of the estate of the said Nabob or for realizing the assets thereof, which may have been done before the passing of this Act by any person under the orders or with the sanction of the Government of Madras.

XIX. No property shall be taken by the said Receiver out of the possession of any person mentioned in the list last published in the Government Gazette at Madras of persons entitled to privileges under the provisions of Act 1 of 1844, without the previous order of the Governor in Council of Madras.

No. 54.

FROM

BRIGDIE GENL SIR J. H. GRANT, K. C. B., Commanding Cavalry Division.

TO

THE DY. ADJT. GENL OF THE ARMY.

Dated Camp Lucknow Cantonments,

The 8th March 1858.

SIR,

I beg to state for the information of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, that through inadvertence, I omitted to mention Lieutenant-Colonel W. N. Custance, 6th Dragoon Guards, in my report of the operations of the Cavalry Force during the present Campaign.

Lieutenant-Colonel Custance commanded a Wing of his Regiment throughout the whole of the operations before Delhi, and on the 14th September, the day of the assault, I gave him charge of the second line of Cavalry.

I regret very much my having omitted to mention the zealous support which I received from Colonel Custance during the arduous duties required of the Cavalry throughout the siege, and my approval of the judicious manner in which he carried out my orders on the day of the assault on which occasion he was attended by Major Richardson, 3rd Light Cavalry, and Lieutenant G. S. Davies, 6th Dragoon Guards, both most zealous and gallant Officers.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) J. HOPE GRANT, Brigd.-Genl.,

Commanding Division.

(True Copy)

H. W. NORMAN, Major,

Depty. Adjt. Genl. of the Army.

FROM

BRIGADIER T. SEATON, C. B.,

Comdg. Futteghur District.

TO

THE CHIEF OF THE STAFF,

Head Quarters.Dated Futteghur, the 7th April 1858.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report for the information of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, that as the Rebels at Soorajpore Ghaut near Kumbil, were greatly increasing in numbers, and were beginning to send parties of Horsemen across the Ganges to plunder the country and collect revenue, and as I had no sufficient Cavalry to oppose them, I deemed it best, under all circumstances, to make a sudden move across the river on their main body posted near Bangown and its vicinity.

2. Accordingly last night, I moved out with Artillery.—7th Company 14th Battalion Royal Artillery, with No. 4 Field Battery.

6 Officers and 74 of other Ranks.
Natives.—1 Non-Commissioned Officer and 13 Syce Drivers.
Her Majesty's 82nd Regiment attached to Artillery.—1 Officer and 13 of other Ranks.
Ordnance.—One 24-Pounder Howitzer.
Do.—Two 9-Pounder and two 6-Pounder Guns.
Total.—5 Guns, 7 Officers, and 101 of other Ranks.
European Infantry, B. M.'s 82nd Regiment.—33 Officers and 677 of other Ranks.
Punjab Irregular Infantry, 7th Regiment.—6 European Officers and 6 Native Officers, and 180 of other Ranks.
Irregular Cavalry, Alexander's Horse.—1 European Officer, 3 Native Officer, and 89 of other Ranks.
Horsemen attached to 7th Punjab Infantry.—3 Native Officers and 50 of other Ranks.
Futtehghur Organized Police Battalion.—1 European Officer, 6 Native Officers, and 145 of other Ranks.
Total of Native Cavalry.—2 European Officers, 10 Natives, and 204 of other Ranks.

3. The Rebel Cavalry showed strongly on my right and left; Major Smith opened with his Guns on the Cavalry on the right, and a few rounds drove them back.

4. In the meantime the large body on the left advanced towards me, and got into the dry bed of a nullah about 700 yards off. As we could see their heads, I made the 82nd open fire on them, and in ten minutes, they also retreated as hard as they could. Our Artillery now commenced firing on the Enemy's Guns on our left; they replied sharply, and the shot went mostly over our heads. Intendly advanced against the village, the Rebels going off in numbers as we approached, and on getting up to it, the Rebels fled precipitately, abandoning 1 Gun, a "10-Pounder."

5. There were a good many Rebels in and about the village, and in rear of it; Lieutenant-Colonel Hale therefore, at my desire, brought the 82nd round, and destroyed every one we could find.

6. After gaining the village, I sent the Cavalry in pursuit; they returned in about an hour, having killed a number of the fugitives, and captured several standards, together with a small Gun, "a zambooruk."

7. I now moved into the groves of trees lately occupied by the Enemy, planted videttes all round, and bivouacked until the afternoon; and at 3 o'clock commenced my homeward march. I fully expected that during the day the Enemy, collecting their forces from the villages of Mungla and Patin, distant about two or three miles, would have attacked me, but their consternation at my unexpected attack was so great, that they did not. Although for some hours their Horsemen continued to hover about, when they finally disappeared in the direction of Ala Gunge.

8. The numbers of the Enemy are estimated at 300 Horse, amongst them 100 of the late Oude Military Police Horsemen, and 1,800 Infantry, including some Sepoys of the 41st and 10th Native Infantry, and Gwalior Contingent. They left in trophies in our hands the 10-Pounder Gun (native manufacture) already mentioned, and 2 small Guns, several standards, some tents, a heap of papers, the possession of which will afford much useful information, and a large quantity of ammunition, which, for want of sufficient draft cattle, I destroyed.

9. The great Enemies we had to encounter, were the long march out and home, full forty miles, the great heat of the weather and scarcity of water, for all along the road, the wells were few and the water foul; but the patience and determination of the Troops was worthy of all praise, and enabled me to strike a smart blow (for the loss of the Enemy was upward of 250 killed) and bring to a successful termination an operation that will, I trust, have the effect of showing them, that if they are not safe in their present position between two rivers, it would be dangerous for them to cross to our side. As soon as I learn the effects of this punishment, I will report the result to His Excellency.

10. My best thanks are due to all the Troops engaged, Officers and Men, and I trust that His Excellency will appreciate their services. The Officers Commanding Corps and Detachments were—

Brevet-Major C. H. Smith, Royal Artillery, Commanding Artillery.

Lieutenant-Colonel E. B. Hale, Commanding Her Majesty's 82nd Regiment.

Captain E. L. Stafford, Commanding 7th Punjab Infantry.

Lieutenant M. R. St. John, Commanding Detachment Alexander's Horse.

Lieutenant G. Dekantzow, Commanding Futtehghur Organized Police Battalion.

My Staff Captain W. H. Hawes, Major of Brigade.

Lieutenant W. Myles, Deputy Assistant Commissary General.

Lieutenant W. C. Ryves, (Second in Command Futtehghur Levy), Orderly Officer.

11. Messrs. Vansittart and Power, Civil Service, and Captain Bradford, Assistant Commissioner, accompanied the Troops to render any assistance they could, and I feel very greatly obliged to them. I must not omit to mention Deputy Magistrate Mirza Abbas Beg, who also accompanied me, and whose services in getting intelligence, have been most invaluable ever since I came here. He is a most valuable servant of Government.

12. On my return to Futtehghur I learnt that the Rebel gangs at Ala Gunge and Jerahpore, Mow, opposite to Bichpuriyah Ghaut, had broken up their bridge-of-boats at the first named place. I am just informed, however, now that our Force has returned, that they are re-building the same, most probably to enable the beaten Troops to pass over the Rangunga.

13. Enclosed I have the honor to attach a Nominal Roll of the European Officers and Men killed and wounded, and a general Casualty Return of the Force which accompanied me.

I have, &c.,

SIR,

I HAVE the honor, by direction of the Commander-in-Chief, to enclose copy of a letter, dated 15th Ultimo No. 2 A, from Brigadier St. G. D. Showers, C. B., Commanding Agra and Muttra District, reporting his relief of the village of Pinahut and defeat of Rebels in the ravines of the Chumbul, which I am to beg you will submit to the Right Hon'ble the Governor General.

With a Report from Brigadier Showers of the relief of the village of Pinahut and defeat of a body of Rebels in the ravines of the Chumbul.

The Order of Merit has been bestowed on Sepoy Kaseo Sing, 72nd Native Infantry, for gallant conduct.

2. His Excellency desires me to state that under the provisions of Government General Order No. 698, of 19th May 1857, he has directed the bestowal of the 3rd Class Order of Merit on Sepoy Kaseo Sing, of the 72nd Regiment Native Infantry, for his gallant conduct in this affair.

I have the honor to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient Servant,

No. A 2.

FROM

BRIGADIER ST. G. D. SHOWERS, C. B.,

Comdg. Agra and Muttra District.

To

THE DEPUTY ASSISTANT ADJT. GENL.,

Meerut Division.

Camp Jeorah, 15th March 1858.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report for the information of the Major-General Commanding the Meerut Division, that in conformity with the arrangements reported in my letter A 1, of the 11th

2 9-Pt. Guns.
1 24-Pt. Howitzer.
1 8-Inch Howitzer.
200 Rank and File of Her Majesty's 8th (the King's) Regiment.
250 Sabres Sikh Police Cavalry.
105 Sikh Police Infantry.

Instant, I moved out with the column noted in the margin, on the night of the 11th Instant. I reached Pinahut, on the 13th, just in time as it appears, to prevent the village from being plundered by the Rebels.

They had collected there in force two days before, but on hearing of the arrival of my Force at Futtehabad, they decamped.

2. The villages inhabited by these Rebels are situated within, and bordering on the extensive and deep ravines of the River Chumbul, which are formed by the combined action of the drainage of the country on the one side, and by the eddies of the river on the other. They extend to the depth of 120 feet and upwards. There are no direct tracks through them. The sides of the ravines are more than usually rugged and irregular, and the ascent and descent among them is difficult, even to the inhabitants. The Rebels, feeling themselves secure in such a position, had issued out and plundered the villages which were loyal and peaceably disposed.

3. On reaching Pinahut, it was considered desirable that these Rebel villages should be destroyed. There were no roads to them, and it was necessary to move across the country, over ploughed and cultivated fields; but Mr. Phillips, the Magistrate, having supplied me with 60 bullocks to cut through any obstructions I might meet, we succeeded in reaching our present encampment with comparatively little difficulty. On coming up to the first village Bugrenha, I observed a stream of men behind it, with cattle, moving deeper into the ravines, on which I ordered up 100 Rank and File of Her Majesty's 8th (the King's) Regiment, and 100 of the Sikhs, and threw them into the ravines in pursuit. The column was under the Command of Major Hennessey, Commanding the Agra Police, and the rapidity with which he executed the movement, brought him up with the Rebels before the whole had time to cross the Chumbul. He succeeded in killing about 100 of them, among whom was Kuroora Singh, the owner of several villages, and a notorious Rebel.

4. After detaching Major Hennessey's Force, I moved on with the main body towards Jeorah, where I was led to suppose I should meet with considerable opposition. In advancing with 25 Sowars to the right, to attack it from that direction, I was met by a flank fire from some Matchlockmen in front of the ravines. These were supported by about a hundred Men in their rear, who had taken post at a Hindoo Temple, which it seemed they intended to defend. Waiting till the main body reached the opposite flank, I galloped into the village, which I now found evacuated. I then directed the Guns to be moved forward as far as the ravines admitted, and some shell to be thrown into the Temple. This dispersed the Men who had assembled there, when I entered the ravines with another column. We first came on the village of Khylee, which was deserted as we approached. In passing further into the ravines, the column encountered but little opposition. We met occasionally with parties who had settled themselves in the recesses, where they evidently expected they would remain unmolested, as they had brought out their bedding, clothing, food, &c., with their women and children.

5. The attack through these ravines was very laborious, on account of the necessity of keeping the top of the hills crowned by our Skirmishers, but it was of importance to make these Rebels feel that there are no positions which are inaccessible to the energy of British Troops.

6. It is impossible to estimate the strength of the Enemy, as they never showed themselves together, but they must have lost about 160 killed, our own loss was one Jamadar, of the Police Battalion, killed.

7. I cannot conclude this Despatch without reporting the gallant conduct of Kasee Singh, a Sepoy of the late 72nd Regiment Native Infantry, who, in a hand to hand encounter with the Rebel Chief Kuroora Singh, showed a dextrous use of the bayonet and musket against the sword. He parried four successive cuts, and then dashed his bayonet into his opponent. I beg to recommend the gallant conduct of this man, to the favorable consideration of the Major-General for promotion to a Naick.

I have, &c.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 5, 1858.

Legislative Council of India.

The 24th April 1858.

The following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of India, received the assent of the Right Honorable the Governor General on the 9th April 1858 (communicated to the Legislative Council on the 24th April 1858), and is hereby promulgated for general information:—

ACT NO. XIV OF 1858.

An Act to extend the provisions of Act XXI of 1855 in the Presidency of Fort Saint George to Minors not subject to the superintendence of the Court of Wards.

WHEREAS, by Section XX Regulation V. 1804 and Section III Regulation X. 1831 of the Madras Code, the Zillah Courts, subject to the confirmation of the Sudder Adawlut, are authorized and required to appoint guardians to the Minor heirs of property of every description not subject to the jurisdiction of the Court of Wards, and by Clause 9 Section XXI of the former Regulation the guardians are required to provide for the education of their Wards in a manner suitable to their rank and condition; and whereas, by Act XXI of 1855, better provision has been made for the education of Minors subject to the superintendence of the Court of Wards, and it is expedient that the same powers which are thereby given to the Collector and Court of Wards in respect of the Minors under their superintendence should be exercised by the Zillah Courts, subject to the control of the Sudder

Adawlut, in respect of the Minors for whom they are required to appoint guardians; It is enacted as follows:—

I. The general superintendence and control of the education of every male Minor, for whom a guardian has been or shall be appointed by the Zillah Court, is hereby vested in the Judge of the Zillah Court of the District within whose jurisdiction such Minor's estate is situate; or, if such Minor is possessed of immovable property within the jurisdiction of more than one Zillah Court, in the Judge of such Court as the Sudder Adawlut shall direct.

II. The Judge of the Zillah Court, subject to the control of the Sudder Adawlut, is hereby authorized to exercise in respect of such Minor and the guardian of such Minor all the powers and authorities which, by Sections II, III, IV, and V, Act XXI of 1855, the Collector of Revenue or the Court of Wards is authorized to exercise in respect of Minors and guardians of Minors whose property is under the management of the Court of Wards.

III. The right to the custody of the person of every male Minor, for whom a guardian is appointed by the Judge of the Zillah Court, is hereby vested in the person appointed by the Judge of the Zillah Court, with the confirmation of the Court of Sudder Adawlut, either originally or upon the removal of a former guardian, to be the guardian of such Minor.

IV. All orders and proceedings of a Judge of a Zillah Court under the provisions of this Act shall be subject to the revision of the Court of Sudder Adawlut, and every person aggrieved by any such order or proceeding may prefer an appeal therefrom to the Court of Sudder Adawlut.

Appeal from the orders of a Zillah Judge to lie to Sudder Court.

ACT No. XV OF 1858.

Act for the levy of Port-dues in the Port of Aden.

WHEREAS it is necessary to fix the amount of the Port-dues to be hereafter levied and taken in the Port of Aden in accordance with the provisions of Act XXII of 1855; It is enacted as follows :—

I. A Port-due, at a rate not exceeding the rate of one anna for every ton of burden, shall be chargeable in respect of every sea-going vessel of the burden of ten tons and upwards (except fishing-boats) which shall enter the said Port.

Port-due on sea-going vessels of ten tons and upwards entering Port.

II. Provided that no such due shall be chargeable in respect of any vessel which, having left the Port, is compelled to re-enter it by stress of weather, or in consequence of having sustained any damage.

No Port-due on vessels compelled by stress of weather to re-enter Port.

III. The Port due chargeable under this Act shall not be chargeable oftener than once in the same calendar month in respect of the same vessel.

No vessel to pay Port-due oftener than once a month.

IV. Vessels entering the Port, and leaving the same within seven days without discharging or taking in any cargo or passenger therein, shall be charged with one-half only of the Port-due which would otherwise be chargeable.

Port-due on vessels leaving Port within seven days without breaking bulk.

V. Vessels entering the Port in ballast shall be charged with three-fourths of the Port-due which would otherwise be chargeable.

Vessels entering the Port in ballast.

VI. This Act shall commence and have effect on the first day of May 1858; and the local Government shall on or before that date, pursuant to Section XLII Act XXII of 1855, declare, by notification to be published in the Bombay Gazette, the rates at which Port-dues shall be levied in the said Port subject to the provisions of and within the limits prescribed by this Act; and from and after the said date, no Port-due or fee shall be levied at the said Port, except under the authority of Act XXII of 1855 and of this Act.

Rates of Port-dues to be published.

No other Port-dues or fees to be levied.

VII. This Act shall be read with and taken Act to be read as part as a part of Act XXII of of Act XXII of 1855. 1855.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council of India on the 24th April 1858, and referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon after the 28th of July next:—

A Bill for bringing the Fort of Tanjore and the adjacent territory under the Laws of the Presidency of Fort St. George.

WHEREAS it is necessary to make provision for the future administration of Civil and Criminal justice

Preamble. within the Fort of Tanjore and the territory adjacent thereto which have lapsed to the East India Company in consequence of the death of the Rajah of Tanjore; and also to bring the said Fort and adjacent territory under the Laws of the Presidency of Fort St. George; It is enacted as follows:—

I. From and after the day when this Act shall come into operation, the Fort of Tanjore and adjacent territory shall be subject to the general Laws and Regulations which are or shall be in force within the territories subject to the Presidency of Fort St. George.

II. No Court shall try or determine any case, Civil or Criminal, with respect to which a final decision may have been pronounced before this Act shall come into operation by any of the Courts established by the said Rajah exercising jurisdiction within the said Fort of Tanjore and adjacent territory at the time of the passing of this Act.

III. A decision passed by any such Court in an original Civil suit shall be considered as final, if no appeal shall have been made against it within thirty days after the decision was passed.

IV. All original suits and appeals (other than special appeals) and all proceedings which shall be pending in any of the Courts mentioned in Section II at the time at which this Act shall come into operation, shall be transferred to the Courts and Officers to be established or appointed for the administration of Civil and Criminal justice within the said Fort and adjacent territory, according to their respective jurisdictions.

V. Appeals not pending at the time at which this Act shall come into operation but presented to the Zillah Court within thirty days after the passing of the decision appealed against, to be treated as pending appeals.

VI. The general Laws and Regulations in force within the territories subject to the Presidency of Fort St. George may be applied and administered by the said Courts and Officers in the trial and determination of such suits, appeals, and proceedings. Provided that, if in any Civil case it shall appear that the application of the said Laws and Regulations would operate unjustly if applied to the trial and determination thereof, it shall be lawful for the said Courts to try and determine the same according to equity and good conscience. Provided also that no act committed within the said Fort and adjacent territory, before this Act comes into operation, shall be deemed an offence punishable under the provisions hereof, if at the time of the commission of such act the same was not contrary to the Laws then in force within the said Fort and adjacent territory.

VII. It shall be competent to the Civil Judge of the District to which the said Fort and adjacent territory may be annexed, to hear and finally determine any special appeals pending in any of the Courts mentioned in Section II of this Act, and any special appeals that may be preferred to the Civil Judge in cases in which special appeals would have been admissible by any of the said Courts, provided that such special appeal shall be preferred within sixty days from the passing of the decision appealed against.

VIII. Decrees passed by any of the Courts mentioned in Section II of this Act may be executed according to the Law in force for the execution of decrees within the territories subject to the Presidency of Fort St. George, or as near thereto as may be.

IX. This Act shall come into operation from such day as shall be fixed by the Governor of Fort St. George in Council, by notice to be published in the Government Gazette.

W. MORGAN,
Clerk of the Council.

Legislative Council of India.

The 24th April 1858.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council of India on the 24th April 1858, and referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon after the 28th July next:—

A Bill for granting exclusive privileges to Inventors.

WHEREAS Act VI of 1856, entitled "An Act for granting exclusive privileges to Inventors," was passed by the Legislative Council of India without the sanction of Her Majesty to the passing thereof having been previously obtained and signified in pursuance of the Statute passed in the seventeenth year of the reign of Her Majesty, entitled "An Act to provide for the Government of India;" and whereas Her Majesty's Law Officers having given it as their opinion that the Legislative Council of India was not competent to pass Act VI of 1856 without previously obtaining the sanction of the Crown, and the Court of Directors of the East India Company having in pursuance of the power vested in them by law disallowed Act VI of 1856 and having signified to the Governor-General of India in Council their disallowance thereof, the said Act was repealed by Act IX of 1857: and whereas it is expedient, for the encouragement of Inventors of new manufactures, that certain exclusive privileges in their inventions

should be granted to them in India, and that exclusive privileges obtained under the said Act should be protected : It is enacted as follows (the sanction of Her Majesty to the passing of this Act having been previously obtained and signified in pursuance of the said Statute) :—

I. The Inventor of any new manufacture may petition the Governor General of India in Council for leave to file a specification thereof. Every such petition shall be in writing in the form or to the effect mentioned in the Schedule hereunto annexed, and shall be signed by the petitioner or (in case the petitioner shall be absent from India) by an authorized agent, and shall state the name, addition, and place of residence of the petitioner, and the nature of the invention.

II. Upon such petition, the Governor General of India in Council may make an order authorizing the petitioner to file a specification of the invention.

III. Before making such order, the Governor General of India in Council may refer the petition to any person or persons for enquiry and report, and such person or persons shall be entitled to a reasonable fee for such enquiry and report to be paid by the petitioner; the amount of such fee, in case of dispute, to be settled by a Judge of one of Her Majesty's Courts of Judicature in a summary manner.

IV. If, within the space of six calendar months from the date of such order, the petitioner cause a specification of his invention to be filed in manner hereinafter mentioned, the petitioner, his executors, administrators, or assigns, shall be entitled to the sole and exclusive privilege of making, selling, and using the said invention in India, and of authorizing others so to do, for the term of fourteen years from the time of filing such specification, and for such further term (if any) not exceeding fourteen years from the expiration of the first fourteen years as the Governor General of India in Council may think fit to direct, upon petition to be presented by such inventor, at any period not more than one year, and not less than six calendar months, before the expiration of the exclusive privilege hereby granted.

V. An order authorizing the filing of a specification, or for extending the term of such exclusive privilege as aforesaid, may be made subject to any such conditions and restrictions as the Governor General of India in Council may think expedient.

VI. Every specification of an invention filed under this Act, shall be in writing, and shall be signed by the petitioner, and shall particularly describe and ascertain the nature of the said invention and in what manner the same is to be performed.

VII. Every petition for leave to file a specification and every specification filed under this Act shall be left with the Secretary to the Government of India in the Home Department, and every petition and specification shall be accompanied by a declaration in writing signed by the petitioner in the form or to the effect mentioned in the Schedule hereunto annexed, marked A and B respectively; and if the inventor be absent from India, the petition and specification shall also be accompanied by a declaration signed by the agent who shall present or file the same, to the effect that he verily believes that the declaration purporting to be the declaration of the inventor was signed by him, and that the contents thereof are true, which declaration shall be in the form hereunto annexed, marked C. The date of the delivery of every such petition and specification shall be endorsed on the same respectively, and shall also be recorded at the Office of the said Secretary.

VIII. If any person who shall make a declaration under this Act shall wilfully and corruptly make any false statement therein, he shall be deemed guilty of perjury, and shall be proceeded against, and upon conviction punished accordingly.

IX. No specification shall be filed until the petitioner shall have paid all fees payable under this Act, including the fees (if any) of the person or persons to whom the petition shall have been referred for enquiry and report.

X. At the time of delivering the specification for the purpose of being filed, the petitioner shall cause to be delivered to the said Secretary five copies thereof, of which

One shall be sent to and filed by one of the Secretaries to the Government of Bengal;

One shall be sent to and filed by one of the Secretaries to the Government of Port St. George;

One shall be sent to and filed by one of the Secretaries to the Government of Bombay; and

One shall be sent to and filed by one of the Secretaries to the Government of the North-Western Provinces.

A copy of such specification shall be open at all reasonable times at the Office of each of the said Secretaries to public inspection upon payment of a fee of one Rupee.

XI. A book shall be kept in the Office of the said Secretary to the Government of India wherein shall be entered and recorded every such petition and specification and every order made upon such petition or relating to the invention therein mentioned. Every specification shall be numbered according to the order in which it is entered in such book; and a reference shall be made in such book, in the margin of the entry of each specification, to every order relating to the invention.

XII. Such book, or a copy thereof, shall be open at all convenient times for the inspection of any person upon payment of a fee of one Rupee; and the said Secretary shall cause a copy of any entry therein, certified under his hand, to be given to any person requiring the same on payment of the expense of copying.

XIII. Every such certified copy shall be prima facie evidence of the document of which it purports to be a copy.

XIV. No person shall be entitled to any exclusive privilege under the provisions of this Act—

If the invention is of no utility, or

If the invention, at the time of presenting the petition for leave to file the specification, was not a new invention within the meaning of this Act, or

If the petitioner is not the inventor thereof, or

If the specification filed does not particularly describe and ascertain the nature of the invention and in what manner the same is to be performed.

XV. Every exclusive privilege under this Act shall cease if the Governor General of India in Council shall declare that the same, or the mode in which it is exercised, is mischievous to the public; or if a breach of any special condition on which the petitioner shall be authorized to file a specification, or upon which the term of the exclusive privilege shall be extended, shall be proved to the satisfaction of any of Her Majesty's Courts of Judicature, and if the Governor General of India shall thereupon declare that such exclusive privilege shall cease.

XVI. The importer into India of a new invention shall not be deemed an inventor within the meaning of this Act, unless he be the actual inventor.

XVII. A foreigner, whether resident abroad or not, may petition for leave to file a specification under this Act.

XVIII. An invention shall be deemed a new invention within the meaning of this Act, if it shall not, before the time of applying for leave to file the specification, have been publicly used in India or in any part of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, or been made publicly known in any part of India or of the United Kingdom by means of a publication, either printed or written or partly printed and partly written. The public use or knowledge of an invention, prior to the application for leave to file a specification, shall not be deemed a public use or knowledge within the meaning of this Section, if the knowledge shall have been obtained surreptitiously or in fraud of the actual inventor, or shall have been communicated to the public in fraud of the actual inventor or in breach of confidence: provided the inventor shall, within six calendar months after the commencement of such public use, apply for leave to file his specification, and shall not previously have acquiesced in such public use: provided also that the use of an invention in public by the actual inventor thereof, or by his servants or agents, or by any other person by his license in writing, shall not be deemed a public use thereof within the meaning of this Act.

XIX. If the actual inventor who, prior to the time of applying for leave to file a specification of an invention under this Act, shall have obtained Her Majesty's Letters Patent for the exclusive use of such invention in the United Kingdom, shall, within twelve calendar months from the passing of this Act, or within twelve calendar months from the date of such Letters Patent, petition the Governor General of India in Council for leave to file a specification of such invention, the invention shall be deemed a new invention within the meaning of this Act, if it was not publicly known or used in India at the time of applying for such Letters Patent, to be deemed now.

Invention if not publicly known or used in India at the time of applying for such Letters Patent, to be deemed now.

What to be stated in such petition.

Duration of exclusive privilege.

Her Majesty's Letters Patent for the exclusive use of such invention, shall cease to have effect, if such Letters Patent be revoked or cancelled: and that no such exclusive privilege shall extend beyond the term granted by such Letters Patent unless the same shall be renewed, in which case the exclusive privilege may be renewed under this Act for the extended term.

XX. No exclusive privilege obtained under this Act shall entitle the owner of such privilege to exclude any person from using the invention, who, prior to the 7th day of July 1855, used the same in India.

Saving of rights of persons who used invention before 7th of July 1855.

same in India.

XXI. An action may be maintained by an inventor against any person who, during the continuance of any exclusive privilege granted by this Act, shall, without the license of the said inventor, make, use, sell, or put in practice the said invention, or who shall counterfeit or imitate the same. Provided that no such action shall be maintained in any of the Courts of the East India Company other than the principal Court of original jurisdiction in Civil cases within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the cause of action shall accrue or the defendant shall reside as a fixed inhabitant.

XXII. No such action shall be defended upon the ground of any defect or insufficiency of the specification of the invention, nor upon the ground of a misdescription of the invention in the petition; nor shall any such action be defended upon the ground that the plaintiff was not the inventor, unless the defendant shall show that he is the actual inventor or has obtained a right from him to use the invention either wholly or in part. Any such action may be defended upon the ground that the invention was not new, if the person making the defence, or some person through whom he claims shall, before the date of the petition for leave to file the specification, have publicly or actually used, in India or in some part of the United Kingdom, the invention, or that part of it of which the infringement shall be proved; but not otherwise.

XXIII. It shall be lawful for any person to apply by motion to any of Her Majesty's Courts of Judicature for a rule to show cause why the Court should not declare that an exclusive privilege in respect of an invention has not been acquired under the provisions of this Act by reason of all or any of the objections following (to be specified in the rule), that is to say—

Application to Superior Courts to declare exclusive privilege not to have been acquired on following grounds—

Invention of no utility. That the said invention is of no utility, or

Invention not new. That the said invention was not, at the time of presenting the petition for leave to file the specification, a new invention within the meaning of this Act, or

Petitioner not the inventor, &c. That the petitioner was not the inventor thereof, and, in addition thereto, either that the applicant was the inventor, or that he has obtained a right from the inventor to use the said invention either wholly or in part, or that the inventor has dedicated or made known the invention to the public or has acquiesced in the public use thereof, or

Invention not described in specification. That the specification filed does not particularly describe and ascertain the nature of the invention or in what manner the same is to be performed, or

Fraud in petition or specification. That the petitioner has knowingly or fraudulently included in the petition or specification, as part of his invention, something which was not new or whereof he was not the inventor, or False statement in petition. That the petitioner has wilfully made a false statement in his petition, or

Fraudulent misdescription of part of invention in specification. That some part of the invention, or the manner in which that part is to be performed as described in the said specification is not thereby sufficiently described and ascertained, and that such defect or insufficiency was fraudulent and is injurious to the public.

XXIV. Any person may, in like manner, apply to any of Her Majesty's Courts of Judicature for a rule to show cause why the Court should not declare that an exclusive privilege has not been acquired under the provisions of this Act in respect of any part of the invention to be specified in the rule by reason of all or any of the objections following (to be specified in the rule), that is to say—

Like application as to part of an invention. That such part of the invention is wholly distinct from the other part thereof and is of no utility, or

That the petitioner was not the inventor of that part of the invention, and in addition thereto, either that the applicant was the inventor of that part, or that he has obtained a right from the inventor to use it, or that the inventor has dedicated or made known the same to the public or has acquiesced in the public use thereof, or

That that part of the invention, and the manner in which it is to be performed, is not sufficiently described and ascertained in the specification, and that such defect or insufficiency is injurious to the public.

XXV. It shall be lawful for the Advocate General of the East India Company at any of the Presidencies of Fort William in Bengal, Fort St. George, and Bombay, or any other person by order of the Governor General in Council, to apply to any of the said Courts of Judicature for a rule calling upon the petitioner, his executors, administrators, or assigns, to show cause why the question of the breach of any special condition upon which the leave to file a specification has been granted, or any other question of fact on which the revocation of the exclusive privilege by the Governor General in Council under the power herein before reserved may, in the judgment of the said Governor General in Council depend, should not be tried in the form of an issue directed by the said Court; and if the rule be made absolute, the Court, unless the breach or other matter of fact be admitted, may thereupon direct such issue to be tried, and certify the result of such trial to the Governor General in Council. The costs of such trial, and also the costs of any proceedings in any of the said Courts of Judicature under the provisions of this Act shall be in the discretion of the Court.

Application by Advocate General on breach of special condition.

Application by Advocate General on breach of special condition.

XXVI. Notice of any rule obtained or proceeding taken under either of the last three preceding Sections shall be served on all persons appearing to be proprietors or to have shares or interests in the exclusive privilege under the provisions of Section XXIV of this Act, and it shall not be necessary to serve such notice on any other persons.

XXVII. Any of the said Courts of Judicature, if it think fit, may direct an issue for the trial, before the same Court or any other Court of Her Majesty or principal Court of original jurisdiction in civil cases of the East India Company, of any question of fact arising upon an application under Sections XXIII, XXIV, or XXV of this Act, and such issue shall be tried accordingly in a summary manner, and if the issue be directed to another Court, the finding shall be certified by the Court before which the same was tried, to the Court directing the issue. If the issue be directed to any of Her Majesty's Courts of Judicature, the Court by which the issue is tried may, before the finding is certified, direct a new trial of such issue according to the usual course and practice of such Court. If the issue be directed to a Court of the East India Company, the finding shall not be subject to appeal to any other Court of the said Company, but the evidence taken upon the trial shall be recorded, and a copy thereof, certified by the Judge, shall be transmitted, together with any remarks he may think fit to make thereon, to the Court by which the issue was directed; and such Court may either act upon the decision of the Court which tried the issue, or direct a new trial if it shall appear necessary.

XXVIII. If it shall appear to any of the said Courts of Judicature at the hearing of any application under the provisions of Sections XXIII or XXIV of this Act that, by reason of any of the objections therein mentioned, the said exclusive privilege in the invention or in any part thereof has not been acquired, the Court shall give judgment accordingly, and shall make such order as to the costs of and consequent upon the application as it may think just; and thereupon the petitioner, his executors, administrators, and assigns shall, so long as the judgment continues in force, cease to be entitled to such exclusive privilege.

XXIX. If the Court at the hearing of any such application as last aforesaid, shall think that the petitioner has, in the description of his invention in the petition or specification, included something which at the date of the petition was not new or whereof he was not the inventor, or that the specification is in any particular defective or insufficient, but that the error, defect, or insufficiency was not fraudulently intended, the Court may adjudge the said exclusive privilege to have been acquired and to be valid, save as to the part thereof affected by such error, defect, or insufficiency, or if the Court shall think that the error, defect, or insufficiency can be amended without injury to the public, they may adjudge the exclusive privilege in the whole of the invention to be valid, and may, upon such terms as shall appear reasonable, order the specification to be amended in any of the said particulars; and thereupon the petitioner, his executors, administrators, or assigns shall, within the time limited by the said Court for the purpose, file a specification amended according to such order. Provided that no amended specification shall

Proviso. have the effect of extending or enlarging the exclusive privilege before acquired.

XXX. An exclusive privilege shall not be defeated upon the ground that there is any misdescription of the invention in the petition, unless such misdescription was fraudulent.

XXXI. Whenever it shall be adjudged by any of the said Courts of Judicature that an exclusive privilege as to the whole or any part of an invention has not been acquired, the said Secretary to the Government of India shall, upon the production of the judgment or order, cause an entry thereof to be made in the said book hereinbefore directed to be kept, and shall cause a reference to such entry to be made in the margin of the entry of the specification contained in such book.

XXXII. If, upon proceedings instituted within two years from the date of a petition to file a specification, the actual inventor shall prove to the satisfaction of any of Her Majesty's Courts of Judicature or of the principal Court of the East India Company having jurisdiction in civil cases within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the defendant shall reside as a fixed inhabitant, that the petitioner was not the actual inventor, and that at the time of the petition he knew or had good reason to believe that the knowledge of the invention was obtained by himself or by some other person surreptitiously or in fraud of the actual inventor, or by means of a communication made in confidence by the actual inventor to him or to any person through whom he derived such knowledge, the Court may compel the petitioner to assign to the actual inventor any exclusive privilege obtained under this Act and to account for and pay over the profits thereof.

XXXIII. In any action for the infringement of such exclusive privilege the plaintiff shall deliver with his plaint particulars of the breaches complained of in the said action; and the defendant, in pleading thereto, shall deliver with his pleas particulars of the grounds (if any) upon which he means to contend that the plaintiff is not entitled to an exclusive privilege in the invention. In like manner, upon any application to any of the said Courts of Judicature under Sections XXIII, XXIV, or XXV of this Act, the applicant shall deliver particulars of the objections on which he means to rely. At the trial of any such action or issue, no evidence shall be allowed to be given in support of any alleged infringement or of any objection impeaching the validity of such exclusive privilege which shall not be contained in the particulars delivered as aforesaid. If it be alleged that the invention was publicly known or used prior to date of the petition for leave to file such specification, the places where and the manner in which the invention was so publicly known or used shall be stated in such particulars. Provided, always, that it shall be lawful for any Court in which the action or proceeding is pending or in which the issue is tried, to allow the plaintiff or defendant respectively to amend the particulars delivered as aforesaid upon such terms as shall seem fit.

XXXIV. A book shall be kept in the Office of the Secretary to the Government of India in the Home Department (such book to be open to inspection without fee) wherein every person filing a specification under this Act shall cause to be stated, under a number corresponding with the number of the specification, some place in India where service of any rule or proceedings for the purpose of cancelling or revoking his exclusive privilege may be made. All persons, partnerships, or Companies from time to time being proprietors of, or having shares or interests in, such exclusive privilege, shall cause to be entered in such book, under such number as aforesaid, their names, together with the name of some place for the service of such proceedings as aforesaid. All such rules and proceedings as aforesaid shall be deemed sufficiently served on any such person, partnership, or Company, if a copy thereof be left at the place entered in such book or (if any other place be substituted for the same by entry in the said book) at the place last substituted, by delivering the same to any person resident at, or in charge of, such place; or, if there be no person resident at, or in charge of, such place, or if such place be not within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court, by causing such rule or proceeding to be sent by post, by a registered letter, directed to such person, partnership, or Company at such place; and if any such person, partnership, or Company shall neglect to make or cause to be made such entry, then service of such rule or proceeding may be effected by affixing a copy thereof to some conspicuous part of the Court-House or in such other manner as the Court may direct.

XXXV. Act VI of 1856 shall be of the same force and effect in respect to every petition and specification filed under the provisions thereof before the Act was repealed, and in regard to all proceedings consequent thereon or in relation thereto, and for the purpose of every thing done under that Act while it continued in force as if previously to the passing of the said Act the sanction of Her Majesty to the passing thereof had been obtained and signified in pursuance of the Statute passed in the seventeenth year of the reign of Her Majesty, entitled "An Act to provide for the Government of India," and as if the said Act had not been repealed; save only that the term of fourteen years in Section IV of the Act first mentioned shall be computed from the time of the passing of this Act instead of from the time of filing the specification, and that no exclusive privilege shall cease to have effect by virtue of the provisions of Section XVI, if the invention be put in practice in India within the period of two years from the time of the passing of this Act.

XXXVI. Every petition for leave to file a specification under the provisions of this Act, or for the extension of the term of an exclusive privilege, shall be written or printed on stamped paper of the value of one hundred Rupees.

XXXVII. In the construction of this Act, the following words and expressions shall have the meanings hereby assigned to them, unless there be something in the subject or context repugnant to such construction.

Words importing the singular number shall include the plural number, and words importing the plural number shall include the singular number.

Words importing the masculine gender shall include females.

The word "invention" shall include an improvement.

The word "manufacture" shall be deemed to include any art, process, or manner of producing, preparing, or making an article, and also any article prepared or produced by manufacture.

The word "printed" shall include "lithographed."

The words "inventor" and "actual inventor" shall include the executors, administrators, or assigns of an inventor or actual inventor as the case may be.

The word "assigns" shall include grantees of the sole use or benefit in India of an invention, or of the sole use of an exclusive privilege for a limited time.

The word "India" shall mean the territories for the time being in the possession and under the Government of the East India Company.

The words "Governor General in Council" shall include the "President in Council."

The words "Secretary to the Government of India" shall include any Under-Secretary to the said Government.

Legislative Council of India.

The 24th April 1858.

THE following Bill, read a second time in the Legislative Council of India on the 3rd April 1858
and referred to a Select Committee, will be reported
on (under a suspension of the Standing Orders) at the first Meeting of the Council after the 1st of June next:—

A Bill to provide for the administration of the Estate and for the payment of the debts of the late Nabob of the Carnatic.

WHEREAS by Act I of 1844 it is enacted that

Preamble.

no writ or process shall at any time be sued forth or prosecuted against the person, goods, or property of His Highness the Nabob of the Carnatic, or of such other person as therein mentioned, unless such writ or process shall be so sued forth with the consent of the Governor in Council of Madras first
had and obtained as therein mentioned; and that any writ or process which shall at any time be sued out or prosecuted against the person or goods
or property of His Highness or of any such person without such consent, shall be utterly null and void: and whereas the Nabob died leaving debts
and liabilities to a large amount unsatisfied, some of which were contracted by himself (and some by Ajeem Jah Bahadour as Nabob Regent or Naib-i-
Mooktar during the infancy of the late Nabob):
and whereas it is doubtful whether the creditors
of the Nabob have, without the consent of the Governor in Council of Madras, any remedy for enforcing their claims against the goods or property which belonged to the said Nabob at the time of his death; and especially whether any part of the property left by the said late Nabob, which was of the nature of State or Public property,
can be made available for payment of such claims:
and whereas the East India Company is willing to give up any right which it has to any part of such property which is in the nature of State or Public property, and to allow the whole property,
real and personal, of whatever kind, left by the
late Nabob, after appropriating to the payment of his debts such portion thereof as is liable to the payment thereof, to be applied towards making provision for the family and dependents of the late Nabob: and whereas the said East India Company is also willing to pay in full, to such of
the creditors as shall be willing to accept the same,
in the manner herein mentioned, all such debts as
shall be proved to have been fairly and justly
contracted by the said Nabob or on his behalf
during his infancy, by the said Ajeem Jah as Nabob
Regent, such debts to be estimated in respect of moneys at the amounts which may be proved to have been actually advanced to or paid for the use of the Nabob, and in respect of goods supplied
or other matters at the amount which shall be proved to have been the fair and actual value
thereof at the time when such debts were incurred,
together with interest on such debts at a rate not exceeding six per centum per annum, the property
of the said Nabob being applied in the first instance
for that purpose, but any deficiency therein being made good by the said East India Company: and
whereas the said Nabob is alleged to have mortgaged
and created divers liens and securities upon certain portions of his property, of which or some of which the validity and extent of operation, especially as against the creditors of the said Nabob, is doubtful, and it may also be doubtful whether the same can be enforced in any of the ordinary Courts of Justice; and it is expedient that provision should be made for giving effect to the said mortgages, liens, and securities so far as the same shall have been created bona fide and for valuable consideration, and for affording a simple mode of ascertaining the rights of the parties claiming under such mortgages, liens, and securities; and whereas it is also alleged that various conveyances, deeds, and instruments have been executed by the late Nabob without valuable consideration in favor of persons who have under color thereof executed or created mortgages or assignments of, or securities or liens on the property comprised therein; and whereas it is expedient that provision should be made for investigating all such claims, and for protecting the bona fide creditors of the said Nabob from the effect of any conveyances executed by the Nabob under such circumstances as rendered them void as against such creditors, and for affording a simple mode of ascertaining the rights of the parties claiming in respect thereof as well as of parties claiming to be creditors of the Nabob: It is enacted as follows:—

I. The Governor in Council of Madras shall, immediately after the passing of this Act, appoint such person as he may think fit to act under the orders of the Supreme Court of Judicature at Madras in the administration of the property of whatever nature left by the said late Nabob. The person so appointed shall be designated "The Receiver of the Carnatic property," and shall have power to collect and take possession of all such property, and shall hold the same according to the provisions of this Act.

II. The said Receiver shall be entitled to receive such a commission, not exceeding five per centum upon the amount or value of the property collected by and distributed under the provisions of this Act, as the said Governor in Council shall appoint, which commission shall be charged to the estate.

III. The Governor in Council of Madras shall have full power to suspend or remove any person appointed such Receiver as aforesaid, and also from time to time to fill up any vacancy in such office which may be occasioned by death, retirement, suspension, or removal.

IV. Such Receiver shall represent the estate of the said late Nabob in all proceedings relating thereto under this Act or otherwise, and shall do and perform all acts in performance of his duties or office under his official designation, and in all proceedings whether at law or in equity he shall be so styled and designated; and no proceedings in which the Receiver may be a party shall abate by reason of the death, retirement, suspension, or removal from office of any such Receiver, but the same shall be continued and carried on as if no such death, resignation, suspension, or removal had accrued.

V. The Receiver shall have full power to collect, take possession of, and get in all property, moveable or immoveable, belonging to the said late Nabob at the time of his death, and if necessary to sue for and recover the same in his own name as representing the said estate of the said Nabob under this Act, and to realize by sale or otherwise the value of the said property; and he shall proceed to collect, take possession of, and realize the same with all convenient speed immediately after the passing of this Act.

VI. Upon a suit being instituted as herein after mentioned, the said Receiver shall be deemed subject to the orders and general practice of the said Court in the same manner as any other Receiver specially appointed by the said Court, except that he shall not be called upon by the said Court to give security.

VII. It shall be lawful for any creditor or person interested in the proper administration of the estate and effects of the said Nabob, to apply for and obtain in a summary way, in the manner provided by Act VI of 1854, upon a summons to be served upon the person appointed Receiver, an order for the administration of the estate and effects of the said Nabob; and such order, in addition to the ordinary directions contained in the usual order for the administration of the moveable and immoveable estate of a deceased Mahomedan, shall direct that all creditors who may hold any mortgage or security upon any part of the estate or effects of the said Nabob shall come in and prove their claims and establish their securities and the consideration for the same, or in default thereof that they shall be barred and excluded from all benefit of their said securities; and the said Court shall also by the said order give such directions as to the notices to be issued to such creditors and otherwise, and shall direct such enquiries as to the Court shall seem fit.

VIII. Upon such order being made, the Court shall take an account of all debts and liabilities which were due from the said Nabob at the time of his death, and also of all the estate and effects of the said Nabob liable and available for the payment of such debts and liabilities; and shall also determine whether any and which of the said creditors had any and what mortgage or security upon any and what portion of the property of the said Nabob and for any and what consideration or amount, and whether such mortgage or security constituted a valid charge upon the whole or any and what portion of the property included therein.

IX. Every creditor of the said Nabob, who shall not come in and establish his claim under and according to the said order, shall be barred from all benefit of the said claim; and all persons who may hold or claim under any mortgage or security executed by the said Nabob or on his behalf, or upon any property whatsoever which belonged to the said Nabob in his lifetime, who shall fail to come in and establish the same or the consideration for the same under and according to such order, shall be barred from all benefit of such mortgage or security: and the said Court may order the property affected thereby to be delivered up to the said Receiver.

X. In case it shall appear to the satisfaction of the Court that there is good reason to believe that any conveyance or other instrument executed by the said late Nabob in his lifetime was executed under circumstances which rendered the same void as against creditors, the said Court may, at any time pending the suit, order the person or persons claiming under such conveyance or instrument to come in and establish his claim under the same; and in default of compliance with the said order, the said Court may declare the said conveyance or instrument to be void as against the creditors of the said Nabob, and may order the property thereby conveyed to be delivered up to the said Receiver.

XI. No action or suit shall be commenced or prosecuted by any creditor of the said Nabob against any person as the representative of the said Nabob, otherwise than in accordance with the provision of this Act: and all actions and suits, which at the time of the commencement of this suit shall be pending at the suit of any such creditor against any person as representative of the said Nabob, shall abate; the costs of such suit, if the said Court shall consider it reasonable, to be paid out of the assets of the said late Nabob.

XII. Any person claiming to be a creditor of the said late Nabob, who within the period of three months from the passing of this Act shall file in the Office of the Master of the said Supreme

Special application of creditor for immediate investigation of his claim by the Court.

Court a written declaration stating that he is willing to receive in full discharge of his debt such amount as shall be ascertained by the said Supreme Court to have been justly and fairly due to him from the said late Nabob at the time of his death and to remain unpaid (such amount to be estimated in respect of moneys at the amount which shall be proved to have been actually advanced to or paid for the use of the said Nabob, and in respect of goods supplied or other matters at the amount which shall be proved to have been the fair and actual value thereof at the time when such debts were incurred) together with such interest (if any) not exceeding the rate of six per centum per annum as shall be awarded by the said Court; and that he is willing to give up any mortgage or security which he may hold upon any part of the property of the said late Nabob, shall be entitled, upon giving up such mortgage or security to the said Receiver, to have the amount of his claim ascertained by the said Court in manner hereinafter mentioned.

XIII. The said Court, upon the application of such creditor, shall appoint a day for ascertaining the amount of his debt, and reasonable notice of the day so appointed shall be given to the Chief Secretary to the Government of Madras.

Court, upon application, to fix a day for the investigation, and to give notice thereof to the Chief Secretary to Government of Madras.

XIV. Upon every investigation under Section XV of this Act, the East India Company may appear and be heard by Counsel.

East India Company may appear by Counsel on such investigation.

XV. Upon the day so fixed or upon any other day to which the Court may think fit to postpone the investigation, the Court shall proceed to ascertain and determine in a summary way what sum was due from the said Nabob at the time of his death to the claimant. Provided that, in fixing the amount of any debt or claim under the provisions of this Section, the said Court shall not allow to any person claiming to be a creditor, in respect of money lent or advanced, any larger sum than the amount proved to have been actually advanced, together with simple interest thereon not exceeding the rate of six per centum per annum, notwithstanding any higher rate of interest may have been agreed to be paid; and that the said Court shall not allow to any person claiming to be a creditor, in respect of goods supplied or of any other matters, any larger sum than the amount which shall be proved to have been the fair and actual value thereof at the time when such debt was incurred, without reference to the price or sum which may have been agreed to be paid for or in respect thereof, together with simple interest thereon not exceeding the rate aforesaid, if the Court shall consider that the claimant is entitled to recover interest. If it shall appear to the said Court that the said debt remains due, the said Court shall issue an order for the payment of the amount so ascertained to be due, together with such interest thereon (if any) not exceeding six per centum per annum as the said Court shall consider that such creditor is fairly and justly entitled to recover. The Court may also, if it consider it reasonable so to do, order the costs of proving such debt to be paid out of the estate of the said late Nabob.

Claim to be summarily investigated by Court.

XVI. The amount ascertained by the Court to be due to the claimant upon the investigation under the last preceding Section, together with such interest and costs (if any) as shall be awarded by the Court, shall be paid to the claimant by the said Receiver within ten days after a copy of the order of the said Court shall have been served upon him. In case no sufficient assets belonging to the estate of the said late Nabob shall be in the hands of the Receiver to enable him to pay such amount, the same shall be forthwith paid out of the public Treasury of the East India Company. The amount so found due to such creditor as aforesaid for principal and interest shall be treated as a debt due to such creditor in taking an account of the debts and liabilities and of the estate and effects of the said Nabob in such administration suit as aforesaid.

Amount found due with interest and costs how to be paid.

XVII. If, after the decree of the Court in such administration suit as aforesaid, it shall appear that the amount paid to any such creditor out of the assets of the said Nabob exceeds the amount which under such decree would have been payable to such creditor if payment

Provision if payment be made to a creditor in excess of the amount payable to him under the decree.

had not been made to him under the last preceding Section, the difference between the amount so paid and the amount which would have been payable shall be made good by the East India Company and shall be paid to the Receiver to enable him to carry out the decree in respect of the creditors remaining unpaid.

XVIII. No action or suit shall be brought

No action in respect of certain things done under this Act, or before the passing thereof if done with the sanction of Government.

against the East India Company or any person for any thing done under the provisions of this Act, or for or by reason of any act, reasonable or proper, for the protection of the estate of the said Nabob or for realizing the assets thereof, which may have been done before the passing of this Act by any person under the orders or with the sanction of the Government of Madras.

XIX No property shall be taken by the said

No property to be taken by the Receiver out of possession of Nabob's family without the order of Government.

Receiver out of the possession of any person mentioned in the list last published in the Government Gazette at Madras of persons entitled to privileges under the provisions of Act I of 1844, without the previous order of the Governor in Council of Madras.

FROM

CAPTAIN F. W. PINKNEY,

Superintendent of Jhansi,

TO

MAJOR W. C. ERSKINE,

Commr., Jubbulpore Divn.

Dated Camp, Jhansi, 13th April 1858.

SIR,

WITH reference to your letter, dated 7th April 1858, regarding certain statements in the Bombay Times, in a letter dated 22nd March 1858, purporting to be written from Jhansi. I have the honor to inform you, that having made enquiries regarding the circumstances attending the murder of the European and Anglo-Indian residents of Jhansi, I find them to be as follows :

2. After Captain F. D. Gordon was shot dead over the gateway of the Fort, the other Officers and Residents who were inside, being in want of provisions, agreed to surrender, on the lives of themselves, their wives and children being spared. This the Mutineers and Rebels swore to do, and the Europeans, &c., then allowed them to enter ; but the Mutineers, Police, the Rance's armed Followers and Rebels, immediately bound the Men and took them, their wives and children, to the Jokhun Bagh, outside the Fort and Town walls, and there, separating the men from the women, first murdered the men ; Bakshish Ally, the Jail Darogah, commencing the slaughter, by cutting down Captain Skene with his own hand, and they then killed the women and children with swords and spears.

3. The European and Anglo-Indian females were not brought before the Rance and stripped, their faces not blackened, nor were any of them dishonored. After the murder, the bodies were stripped and left in the Jokhun Bagh, till the third day, when they were all buried in a gravel pit close to it.

4. The Military Authorities who still keep the dominion of the Town in their hands, have, believe, discovered some property belonging to those murdered : but I do not know to what extent.

5. Previous to receiving your letter, I had written to the Poona Observer publicly, contradicting the statement in the Bombay Times.

I have, &c.,

LIEUTENANT-COL. BAIRD SMITH,

Comdy. in the Districts of Saharunpore and Munziffermangur, Roorkee.

Camp, Myapoor, 11th January 1858.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to acquaint you, that from 7 P. M., on the 8th Instant, reports came to Roorkee from all parts of the District, that a large Force (headed by the Nawab of Nujeebabad) the Enemy had crossed the river Gauges, fallen upon the Towns of Kunkhul, Jowalapoor, and Hardwar, destroyed the Government property at Myapoor, seized upon the Horses of the Cavalry Depot, taken prisoner and carried off Mr. Dubrass, the Telegraph Signaller, proclaimed these Districts having been conquered by the aforesaid Nawab, and the last petition from the Thannadar of Jowalapoor to the Tehseldar of Roorkee, was to effect that the Advance Guard of the Enemy got as far as Bhakurabad, and that they were to march on Roorkee. I was, therefore, ordered by Captain Read, Commanding at Roorkee, to request Lieutenant T. Boisragon, Commanding at Manglaur, to proceed immediately with a portion of his Detachment (vide per margin) towards Myapoor. This order he received at about 3 past 8 P. M., on the 8th Instant, and at 9 A. M. the next morning, his Detachment had reached Myapoor, a distance of 24 miles, to say the least, a very indifferent roadway. This proves what can be done by good and willing Soldiers, and I am certain that the above circumstance will afford you satisfaction. Immediately on my arrival here, at 8 A. M., on the 9th Instant, proceeded (accompanied by Mr. H. Drummond, Engineers, Lieutenant Boisragon, Engineers, and Mr. Melville, of the Service, with three or four Sowars) in quest of the position of the Enemy. After patrolling down the bank for two or three miles, we suddenly came upon their encampment, pitched within a few fathoms of the water opposite to the ford of Unjun, (a distance of about 3 miles in direct line from Kunkhul,) but owing to the nature of the country, we could not see more than a few yards from the bank. I perceived, however, that they were in considerable force, (I should say about 500 men) and from the fact of their having fired a 3 or 6-Pounder at us, we ascertained of their being in possession of Guns. Having gained all the necessary information, we leisurely retired under a very slight discharge of musketry. The only damage done at this place, (but nowhere else) is the destruction of the Government Bungalow, (built by Sir P. Cautley,) and the "Chowkee" of the Cavalry Picquet by fire, and the carrying off of the aforesaid Signaller, Moolia Mehistri of the Canal Works, five Sowars with their Horses, and a dozen Beldars. The Telegraph wire was also cut, and a portion of it carried away; but this was immediately rectified by establishing an Office at Jowalapoor.

Yesterday, about 2 P. M., information was brought me by Shewpershad, Native Agent, belonging to the Canal Department, (who I beg to recommend very favorably to you, as he was the only man who brought any intimation) that the Enemy were crossing in a very large Force, with Guns, and that a great number of them had established themselves on the South of Kunkhul, which they were about to enter. I immediately made the following preparation. A Guard (strength as per margin) was left for the protection of the Camp, under Mr. Phillips, of the Canal Department, whom I instructed also to watch the ford and dam opposite the Myapoor Bridge, and give me immediate information if the Enemy endeavoured to turn my left, and with the rest of the Detachment I marched straight through the main street of Kunkhul, and arrived at its South side just in time to prevent their effecting an entrance into it. The following was the disposition of the Detachment:—The Nusseree Battalion and Seikhs, under Lieutenant T. Boisragon, (with the latter men Mr. S. Melville, of the Civil Service, kindly volunteered his services), the Guns under Lieutenant St. George, of the Artillery, Lieutenant Thompson, Engineers, at my requisition, very kindly took charge of the Cavalry. Captain H. Drummond, Engineers, was watching the movements of the Enemy from the dam, which (at my request) he opened at a most opportune moment, effectually cutting off their retreat, but which at the same time prevented our following them up. Before the firing commenced, Captain Drummond joined, and continued with me during the whole of the affair, and I am much indebted to him for his excellent advice.

Before the affair commenced, I was compelled to detach Cavalry and Infantry in several quarters, to prevent the Enemy from getting to my right, left or rear, besides I had to advance very cautiously, as from very good information I learnt that the Towns of Hardwar, Kunkhul and Jowalapoor were in collusion with the Rebels. I therefore commenced to fight with the number as per margin. It was evidently the object of the Enemy to reach Jowalapoor. I therefore threw myself between it and Kunkhul. The Guns

8 Europeans.
20 Goorkhas.
20 Seikhs.
2 Guns and 16 Men of the 1st Punjab Cavalry.

were posted between that Town and a large native building. Lieutenant T. Boisragon charged with his Goorkhas, took them in flank, and drove them into the River, whilst the Sikhs charged in front into their position amidst the tombstones, which was carried in a few seconds, whilst the Guns (on our left flank) poured Grape into the Enemy as they retreated across the River. Several of the Officers killed men with their own weapons, and the Nephew (I believe) of the Nawab was shot dead by Lieutenant T. Boisragon, and I am given to understand that the Nawab himself was wounded by some of our party. The affair lasted about half an hour. The Cavalry, led by Lieutenant Thomson and Mr. Melville, cut up the Enemy who took down our right bank. I should say the Enemy were 1,000 strong, (they also had 2 Guns) of which killed, wounded and drowned, they must have lost certainly 100. We obtained a quantity of swords, muskets and other native weapons, also some ammunition. Our Guns were capitally served under the superintendence of Lieutenant St. George, of Artillery. I am glad to report that we had not a single man wounded.

Where every Officer and Man (European and Native) performed this duty well and cheerfully, it would be invidious, nay impossible, to particularize. I am indebted to one and all, and I trust you will be pleased, and express your approbation of their conduct.

I forgot to state before, that at Roorkee, Lieutenant T. Boisragon's party was increased by 10 Europeans from the Thomson College, and there was a further increase of 20 Men of the 1st Punjaub Cavalry at Kunkhul.

I have, &c.,

The 19th April 1858.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to acquaint you, for the information of the Right Hon'ble the Governor General, that about 7½ o'clock on the morning of the 17th Instant, several Villagers came into Camp, stating that parties of the Rebels from Belwa, Horse and Foot, were out plundering

the villages between this place and Belwa. I ordered out Detachments of Cavalry and Infantry to drive them back and cut them off, and afterwards reinforced them with fresh Detachments and Guns. From other reports received, that the Enemy were getting up re-inforcements from Belwa, and hearing our own Guns and those of the Enemy, and it appearing as if the Insurgents were holding their ground, I moved out of Camp with the Head Quarters of the Field Force between 10 and 11 o'clock A. M. Near the village of Jahmotee, about three miles from Camp, on the Belwa road, I found the Troops first sent out with Major Cox, H. M.'s 13th Light Infantry, and Captain Sotheby, R. N., of H. M.'s S. Pearl, judiciously drawn up with their centre and Guns in a small wood, to which they had retired in hopes of bringing the Enemy into the plain from the woods and villages; but the Rebels would not venture into the open. Major Cox joined me with a portion of the 13th Light Infantry; and hearing from him how matters stood, and that a large body of the Enemy was also on our extreme right, it was determined to make a move round to the right, and leaving Captain Sotheby on the left, I moved with the remaining Troops which I had brought up, and the two small Mountain Train Howitzers, and with Major Cox and a portion of the 13th Light Infantry, well to the right, and advanced. The Sowars and Rebels on our right soon retired with a Gun, which they only fired two or three times, and, bringing up our right shoulders, the Enemy on the left, in front of Captain Sotheby, finding we had turned their left and rear, ceased firing and soon gave way and retired, getting a few Shells from the small Howitzers, assisted by the Skirmishers with their Enfields and Minies. We continued to advance and press the Enemy till near Belwa, when a favorable opportunity appearing to charge a body of the Insurgents retreating, as I suspected, with one or two of their Guns. After giving them four rounds of shell, I ordered Major Richardson, in Command of the 2nd Troop right Squadron Bengal Yeomanry Cavalry, with my portion of the Force, to move from my right flank, and charge this body of the Enemy. The 2nd Troop, under its gallant leader, made a noble home charge, and though they came upon a larger body of the Enemy behind a village, and the Sepoys made a desperate resistance, nothing stopped this brave Cavalry, and they cut down and killed full sixty of the Rebels, and captured a 6-Pr. Gun with Limber, and the Enemy were completely dispersed.

The day unfortunately was very unfavorable, the hot wind blowing half a gale, with a blinding dust, so the Enemy would have suffered more severely in this action. Major Cox, and Captain Sotheby on the left, with his two Guns, the Naval Rifles, and the Enfields of H. M.'s 13th Light Infantry, early in the day, did good execution among the Enemy. From all the reports I have received, the Enemy must have lost, killed and wounded, between 200 and 300, and one of the Gonda Rajah's Chief Pundits was killed. Although the Enemy had removed several of the killed from the ground where the Cavalry charged, 46 dead bodies were counted there yesterday by one of our best spies. The Enemy were reported to be about 2,000 Sepoys, some Golundauze, 1,000

Irregulars, 100 Sowars, with 4 Guns. The Rajah of Gonda was not present, but his Karioda or Head Agent, was on the ground on an Elephant. When the Cavalry charged as soon as I could get a party of Cavalry from the rear or the left, I moved them up in support under Captain Chapman, and some Infantry, to assist also in bringing away the Gun. As soon as the wounded had been cared for and the Gun brought away, we returned to Camp, reaching it at 4 P. M.

My best thanks are due to Captain Morgan, 22nd Regiment Native Infantry, Field Force Staff, and my Acting A. D. C., the Hon'ble V. A. Montague, R. N., for their zealous readiness and activity in carrying out my orders. To Major Cox, Commanding Left Wing H. M.'s 13th Light Infantry, who was ever active and ready for any duty required of him; to Captain Sotheby, R. N., of H. M.'s S. Pearl, Commanding the Naval Brigade; to Major Richardson, Commanding Bengal Yeomanry Cavalry; to Captain Barclay, 68th N. I., in Military charge of Gorucknath Goorkha Regiment; to Captain Brooks, 1st Regiment Light Cavalry, attached to Goorkhas, which active and zealous Officer I sent forward with the 2nd Detachment of H. M.'s 13th Light Infantry, as a Guide and Interpreter; to the Goorkha Commandant Colonel Byroop Singh Koor, and Major Captain Sewukram Thappa, and to Lieutenant Barton, 40th Regiment N. I., in charge of the Detachment of Seikhs. Also to Drs. Shore and Dickinson, Naval Brigade, Dr. Kurwan, H. M.'s 13th Light Infantry, and Dr. Eteson, attached to Goorkhas, all ready, active, and present in the Field. Major Richardson brings to my notice the prompt, ready and careful aid afforded by Dr. J. W. R. Amesbury, Bengal Yeomanry Cavalry, to those who fell in the charge of the 2nd Troop, ably and readily assisted by Dr. Dickinson, doing duty with the Naval Brigade. Also my thanks are due to the Troops of all arms engaged, for the zealous and cheerful manner they went through a fatiguing day under a burning sun. My best thanks are especially due to the Officers and Men of the 2nd Troop Bengal Yeomanry Cavalry, and their gallant leader, Major Richardson, who himself, in the charge, killed six of the Enemy, Supernumerary Cornet Copland killed three, Cornet and Quarter Master Kloor killed three, Cornet Scott killed several. Major Richardson also brings to my notice that Lieutenants Davis, 2nd Troop, and Percival, 1st Troop, distinguished themselves, as also Sergeant Balmore, Corporal Craven, his Orderly, Riding Master Sergeant W. Curran, Troopers G. Smith and Williams, and Trumpeter O'Donnell. Trooper Kindred, 3rd Troop, defeated Cornet Troop while on the ground wounded, shooting four of the Rebels. Lieutenant de Hoxar, 3rd Troop, wounded early in the Action, and Captain Chapman, severely hurt by his horse falling, remained in the Field till the close of the Action.

I was obliged to leave our Camp standing, and could afford to leave but small Detachments to guard it, under the charge of Captain MacGregor, 9th Light Cavalry, attached to the Goorkha Force. I felt somewhat anxious about it, receiving a report as I joined the Force in advance that there was a body of the Rebels in our rear on the left, nearly all the sick were left in the small Fort and Entrenchment.

My best thanks are due to Mr. Wingfield, Commissioner, who accompanied me to the Field, and for his obliging readiness to convey any orders; and to Deputy Magistrate Sheikh Khairrodeen, for his ready attention in the Field.

I beg to recommend to the most favorable notice of the Right Hon^{ble} the Governor General, all the Officers and Men of the different arms engaged in the Action.

I have the honor to annex a Casualty Roll.

I have the honor to be,

No. 102 of 1858.—The Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India is pleased to direct the publication of the following Despatch, from the Deputy Adjutant General of the Army, No. 257 A, dated 20th April 1858, forwarding copy of a Report from Brigadier-General R. Walpole, Commanding Field Force, detailing his operations against and capture of the Fort of Rooya, on the 16th Instant.

His Lordship participates in the grief expressed by His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, at the heavy loss which the British Army has sustained in the death of that most admirable Officer, Brigadier the Hon'ble A. Hope, whose very brilliant services he had had the gratification of publicly recognizing in all the operations for the relief and the final capture of Lucknow. No more mournful duty has fallen upon the Governor General in the course of the present contest than that of recording the premature death of this distinguished young Commander.

The Governor General shares also in the regret of the Commander-in-Chief, at the severe loss of valuable lives which has attended the operations against the Fort of Rooya.

To—

THE SECY. TO THE GOVT. OF INDIA,
Military Department,
with the Governor General,
Head Quarters Camp, Poorah,
The 20th April 1858.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor, by order of the Commander-in-Chief, to enclose copy of a Despatch from Brigadier-General R. Walpole, dated the 16th Instant, which I am to beg you will submit to the Right Honorable the Governor General.

Forwards copy of
Brigadier-General
Walpole's Report of the capture of the Fort of Rooya.

In this Despatch the capture of the Fort of Rooya is described, an operation which, to the great regret of His Excellency, has been attended with considerable loss.

3. Among the names of those who have fallen, appears that of Brigadier the Honorable A. Hope. The death of this most distinguished and gallant Officer causes the deepest grief to the Commander-in-Chief. Still young in years, he had risen to high Command, and by his undaunted courage, combined as it was with extreme kindness and charm of manner, had secured the confidence of his Brigade to no ordinary degree.

4. This Brigade he had led in several assaults, of which the last was in the attack on the Begum Kotah, at the late Siege of Lucknow.

5. The service of Her Majesty could, in Sir Colin Campbell's opinion, hardly have sustained a greater loss.

I have the honor to be,
Sir,

Your most obdt. Servant,
H. W. NORMAN, Major,
Depty. Adjt. Genl. of the Army.

FROM

BRIGADIER-GENERAL R. WALPOLE,
Commanding Field Force,

To

THE CHIEF OF THE STAFF,
Camp, Madhogunge, 16th April 1858.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to acquaint you, for the information of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, that yesterday morning I marched to this place (which almost joins Roodamow) from Gosegunge.

Nurput Sing, who I stated in my Despatch of yesterday, was at Rooya Fort, which is about one mile to the North of this place, did not come in or send any satisfactory reply to the message of Captain Thurburn, the Magistrate who accompanies this Force. I therefore thought it advisable to attack him, particularly as Captain Thurburn informed me that he understood this man had received only the day before yesterday a letter from the Begum, and that his intentions were certainly hostile to the Government; and under these circumstances it would have had the worst effect to have passed this Fort without taking it.

I accordingly directed my Baggage to be massed in the open plain, near Madhogunge, under a strong guard of Cavalry, Infantry, and two Field Guns, and proceeded with the remainder of the Force towards Rooya, turning off from the road, about two miles from Madhogunge, for the purpose of getting round to the North side of the Fort, which was stated to be the weakest part of it, where there was a gate, and where there were very few Guns.

The Fort on the East and North side is almost surrounded with jungle, and at these two sides, the only two gates were stated to be, which information proved correct. It is a large oblong, with numerous circular bastions all round it, pierced for Guns, and loopholed for Musketry, and surrounded by a broad and deep ditch; there is an inner Fort or Citadel, surrounded in like manner by a deep ditch, and with a high wall considerably elevated above the rest of the work. On the West and part of the South side, there was a large piece of water, which was partially dried up.

On arriving before the North side, I sent forward some Infantry in extended order, to enable the place to be reconnoitred, when a heavy fire of Musketry was immediately opened upon them, and an occasional Gun; the Cavalry at the same time swept entirely round to the West side, to cut off all communication with the Fort.

A tolerable view of the Fort having been obtained from the road which leads into it from the North, the heavy Guns were brought up; the two 18-Pounders were placed on it; the two 8-inch Mortars behind a wood still further to the right.

After a short time, a great many of the Infantry were killed and wounded from having crept up too near the Fort, from which the fire of Rifles and Matchlocks was very heavy. These Men had gone much nearer to the Fort than I wished or intended them to go, and some of the Punjabi Rifles, with great courage, but without orders, jumped into the ditch and were killed in endeavouring to get up the scarp. I therefore gave directions that they should be withdrawn from their forward and exposed situation, and here it was that I regret to say the gallant and able Soldier Brigadier Hope was killed by a Rifle or Musket ball fired by a man from a high tree within the walls of the place.

By $\frac{1}{2}$ past 2 o'clock, the fire of our heavy Guns appeared to have made little or no impression upon the place, and as no Gun could be brought to bear upon the gate, the passage to which was not straight, and it could not be approached without the Men being exposed to a very heavy fire from the bastion and loopholed walls that commanded it, I considered it better not to attempt an assault until more impression had been made upon the walls of the place, and as it was getting late, to withdraw from the North side and commence operations against the South-East angle, on the following morning, which had been reconnoitred by the Engineers, and where they thought it would be easier to effect a breach as it could be better seen and a more direct fire could be brought to bear.

I therefore directed the Camp to be pitched on the South side, about a mile from the Fort, and withdrew from the North side, where it would have been dangerous to have passed the night, as it was surrounded by thick jungle.

This morning at day-light, Major Brind, Bengal Artillery, and Captain Lennox, Royal Engineers, proceeded again to reconnoitre the place thoroughly before re-commencing operations, and found that the Enemy had evacuated it, leaving their Guns behind them five in number, ammunition, a large quantity of attah, and some tents. As some of the carriages were found without their Guns, and the track of a Gun-carriage could be traced to a well, where the Water is very deep, I have no doubt other Guns have been thrown down it. I had information that there were more in the place, and it is certain none were carried out.

The reports as to the numbers of the Enemy vary so much, that it is impossible to arrive at any certainty upon that point; but I am inclined to think the number stated in my Despatch yesterday, viz., about fifteen hundred, to be nearly correct; but the strength of the Garrison consisted in the nature and situation of the Fort, not in their numbers.

I regret to say that this operation has cost us above one hundred Officers and Men killed and wounded, and I have deeply to deplore the loss of Brigadier the Hon'ble A. Hope, from whom I had received the greatest assistance.

The loss of the Enemy it is impossible to ascertain; it must have been heavy from the fire of our Guns, and especially from our Howitzers and Mortars. A few bodies which seem to have been overlooked, and three large funeral fires with the remains of the bodies smouldering, was all that remained of their dead on our entering the place this morning.

The Fort which has over-awed this part of the country for the last year, is being destroyed under the superintendence of Captain Lennox, Royal Engineers, and I am in hopes that its destruction will be of the greatest advantage.

I have received the most willing support from all under my Command during this operation, and I beg particularly to offer my best thanks to Brigadier Hagart, Commanding the Cavalry, and to Major Brind, Commanding the Artillery, for their most able and valuable assistance; also to Captain Lennox, the Senior Engineer Officer, to Lieutenant-Colonel Hay, Commanding the 93rd Regiment, who succeeded to the Command of the Infantry Brigade on the death of Brigadier Hope, to Lieutenant-Colonel Cameron, Commanding 42nd Regiment, Lieutenant-Colonel Taylor, Commanding 79th Regiment; to Captain Cape, Commanding 4th Punjabi Infantry, who, I regret to say, was severely wounded; to Lieutenant-Colonel Tombs, and Major Remington, Commanding Troops of Horse Artillery; to Captain Francis, Commanding heavy Guns; to Captain Giles, Commanding 9th Lancers, and Captain Brown, Commanding 2nd Punjabi Cavalry.

I beg also to return my best thanks to the Officers of my Staff, Captain Barwell, Deputy Assistant Adjutant General; Captain Carey, Deputy Assistant Quarter Master-General, Captain Warner, Aide-de-Camp, and Lieutenant Eccles, Rifle Brigade, my extra Aide-de-Camp.

Enclosed I beg to forward a List of the Casualties, and likewise a sketch of the Fort, which has been made in a hurry, but will afford information of the nature of the work.

I have, &c,

No. 103 of 1858.—The Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India is pleased to direct the publication of the following Reports from Brigadier-General Sir E. Lugard, K. C. B., Commanding Azimghur Field Force, dated 12th and 16th April 1858, detailing the particulars of his operations during his march to Azimghur, and after his arrival there.

It is with deep regret that His Lordship has to announce the subsequent death of Mr. Venables, from the wound received by him while gallantly assisting in the pursuit of the Rebels under Koor Sing.

Mr. Venables, although bound to the service of the State by no tie, save his courageous and patriotic spirit, had rendered the most valuable assistance to Government from the commencement of the mutinies, and had been greatly distinguished by his intrepidity and energy, tempered with a singularly calm and sound judgment.

The Governor General records, with much sorrow, his sincere respect for the memory of Mr. Venables.

R. J. H. BLACK, Colonel,Secy. Govt. of India, Mily. Dept.,
with the Governor General.

Camp, Tigra, 12th April 1858.

SIR,

IN my communication of the 10th Instant from Jounpore, I reported my arrival at that Station on the previous day, and that I had been compelled to halt there, from the exhausted condition of my Cattle, which had marched over bad roads for twelve days continuously, without a halt; also that I intended proceeding towards Azimgurh by the direct road the following day.

2. I have now the honor to report to you, for the information of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, that in consequence of intelligence received during the 10th, that a party of Insurgents under Golan Hossain, Chukledar, had advanced to within twelve miles of Jounpore, destroyed the village of Selaidapore, and actually threatened the city of Jounpore, I decided, late on the evening of the 10th, to change my route to the one through Tigra and Deedar Gunge, which would enable me, I hoped, to punish Golan Hossain and his party, whilst my arrival at Azimgurh would only be delayed one or two days.

3. Independent of the safety of Jounpore, in my opinion, requiring this movement, I was further induced to change my route in consequence of its having been proclaimed to the people of Oude, by these Rebel Chukledars, that the Force under my Command was the remnant of the British Army which had been destroyed at Lucknow, and was flying for safety to the Lower Provinces.

4. On my arrival at Tigra, where I proposed encamping, I found that the Rebel Force had moved back some six miles, after destroying the village and house of Selaidapore, and as the morning had been unusually oppressive, and the Troops much distressed by the march of nearly sixteen miles, I considered it inadvisable to proceed, and therefore halted for the day, scouts being sent out to reconnoitre the Enemy's position.

5. Towards evening, I received intelligence that there was a movement amongst the Rebels as if they intended to march. This was about 4 P. M., and fearing they would make off, I at once ordered out all the Cavalry off duty, consisting of 293 Sabres, with three Horse Artillery Guns, and proceeded with them in pursuit, requesting Brigadier Douglas, to bring up a portion of the Infantry in support.

6. The Enemy were, I understood, in groves of trees on the other side of the village Munnihar, numbering altogether 3,000, of whom 5 or 600 were Sepoys, and 200 Cavalry, (said to have been the Volunteer Regiment, probably 37th Native Infantry), and the 12th Irregular Cavalry, and two Guns.

We came upon the Cavalry Picquets of the Rebels within three or four miles from our Camp; but they rode off as we advanced, and finding that the whole were in full retreat, I at once pushed on, at a rapid pace, the 3rd Irregular Cavalry under Captain Pease, and a party of the 12th Irregulars, under Lieutenant C. Havelock, supported by a Squadron of the Military Train under Major Robertson. The Guns also, in Command of Major Mitchell, Royal Artillery, followed in support; but the evening was too far advanced, and the country too close, for them to act with any effect.

7. The pursuit was continued for more than three miles, and at least eighty of the Rebels killed and their two Guns captured; one a very large iron eight-Pounder, and the other a two and three fourths-Pounder (also a large iron Gun, though of small bore).

They are both of Native manufacture, and being pronounced unfit for our service, I had them burst, and the massive Carriages broken up for their material.

The Force did not return until 10 o'clock, and the captured Guns were not brought into Camp until 4 o'clock this morning.

I have therefore been obliged to halt for this day.

8. The Cavalry could not certainly have marched yesterday less than thirty-two miles, and the Infantry twenty-eight miles. The exertion in such weather was very great, but I considered the object required it; for had Golan Hossain's Force gone away unpunished and with their Guns, there would have been no limit to their falsehoods and boastings. As it is, the fact of their flight, punishment, and loss of their Guns, must become patent to the District.

9. Although our loss is trifling as to numbers, it is, from its nature, I regret to say, most severe, and deeply felt and deplored by all.

Lieutenant Havelock was shot through the head when gallantly leading his Men, and he expired before we returned to Camp.

He was an intelligent, brave, and gallant Soldier, well worthy of the name he bore, and, as I before stated, his loss is deplored by every one in this Force.

10. In conclusion, I beg you will bring to the notice of His Excellency the high spirit of the Troops, European and Native, and the obligations I am under to all ranks for the great exertions they have made, and the cheerfulness with which they have endured the fatigues of the long marches.

11. Mr. Forbes, C. S., has accompanied my Force from Lucknow, and rendered me much assistance in the Intelligence Department. Mr. Jenkinson, C. S., and Mr. P. Carnegie, Deputy Commissioner, also accompanied me from Jounpore, and by their local knowledge, assisted me greatly.

I proceed to Azimgurh, via Deedargunge to-morrow.

I have the honor to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient Servant,

FROM

BRIGDR. GENL. SIR E. LUGARD, K. C. B.,
Comdg. Azimghur Field Force,

TO

THE CHIEF OF THE STAFF.

Dated Camp, Azimghur, 16th April 1858.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report to you, for His Excellency's information, that the Field Force under my Command marched from "Tigra" to

"Deedargunge," 13 miles, on the 13th Instant; and the following morning, learning from Azimghur that the bulk of the Garrison had been sent towards "Mhow," in order to cover Ghazepore, which was threatened by a large body of the Enemy with two Guns, which had quitted Azimghur the previous night, I moved on 24 miles to Raneeka-Nerai; and the same evening sent forward a Squadron of Cavalry, 3 Guns, and four Companies of the 10th Foot, under Lieutenant-Colonel Fenwick, of that Regiment, to reconnoitre the Bridge which the Enemy had thrown over the "Tonso" to the West of the City, with instructions to seize it if possible, as from the plan of the Enemy's Annexed. fortifications and Town which had been furnished me from Azimgurh by Lieutenant-Colonel Longden, Chief of the Staff, Azimgurh Field Force, it occurred to me that by crossing a portion of my Force over this Bridge, I should be able to turn the Enemy's position, and attack it in the front and rear at the same time.

2. On nearing the Jounpore Masonry Bridge, Lieutenant-Colonel Fenwick found the Enemy, who had crossed over the Westward Bridge in force, commencing an attack upon a Picquet of the 37th Foot, posted in the Judge's house there. It appeared from subsequent intelligence, that unacquainted with my immediate vicinity, and aware of the departure of most of the Garrison, they had contemplated a general attack upon the Entrenchments that night.

3. The consternation of the Rebels was great on finding themselves opposed by this fresh party, and after exchanging a few shots, they retired over the broken ground towards their Bridge, where our Troops could not follow them in the dark. Lieutenant-Colonel Fenwick, therefore, bivouacked for the night.

4. At day-break of the 15th, I advanced with my whole Force on Azimgurh, having heard during the night that Koor Singh, with a considerable body, were still in position. The reconnoitering party before mentioned, under the guidance of Lieutenant-Colonel Longden and Mr. Venables, proceeded at the same time to the Enemy's Bridge, which, after a sharp skirmish, they succeeded in carrying and driving the Rebels from the Factory house on the left bank.

5. The position was a very strong one and was held with much determination by a party of about 300 Rebel Sepoys of the late 7th, 8th and 9th Regiments Native Infantry, as shown by the uniform upon the bodies of those found slain on the Field.

6. The Bridge had been partially destroyed, but was speedily repaired by a party of Punjab Sappers under Lieutenant Keith, Royal Engineers, whom I had sent with Lieutenant-Colonel Fenwick's party, and I at once crossed over 3 Guns of Royal Horse Artillery, a Squadron of the Military Train, and all the available Sikh Cavalry.

7. In the mean time, the Main Column under Brigadier Douglas, C. B., had advanced over the "Jounpore Bridge" direct upon the City, and learning that the whole of the Rebels remaining in Azimgurh had fled on losing their Bridge, I directed the Horse Artillery and Cavalry, under Major Michell, Royal Artillery, to pursue, and use their utmost endeavours to capture Koor Singh. In this, I regret to say, they failed, owing to the regularity and devoted courage with which the retreat was covered by a band of the Rebels; 3 Guns, however, and nearly all their Ammunition and Baggage fell into our hands. The pursuit was continued up to the vicinity of the village of "Jounpore," where the road turns off to Azimgurh, and ascertaining that the Rebels had thrown themselves into a small Fort there, which had been joined by the strong body with 2 Horse Artillery Guns (said to be of the Neemuch Troop), who had quitted Azimgurh about the 12th and 13th Instant, I directed the pursuing party to halt, until re-inforced by Infantry, and heavier Guns and Mortars. These are now proceeding thither under Brigadier Douglas, when the Fort will be attacked, should the Rebels remain in it, and the pursuit continued. In the mean time, I have sent an express to Colonel Chamberlege, whose Force is at Mhow, covering Ghazepore, to patrol in strength towards "Ghasee" where a portion of the Rebels, it is expected, will proceed. My loss at the Western Bridge amounted to one killed and six wounded of the 10th Foot and Madras Artillery. In the pursuit I regret that the casualties were heavier. Mr. Venables was wounded in the left arm by a musket shot; Lieutenant Hamilton, Adjutant 3rd Sikh Cavalry, was badly wounded, and died during the night. Twenty-five casualties are reported, killed and wounded, details of which will be sent hereafter.

8. The loss of the Enemy at the Bridge could not be exactly ascertained: bodies of Sepoys in the uniform of the 7th, 8th and 40th Regiments Native Infantry, were found on the ground. The rapid rush of the 10th Foot, after crossing the Bridge prevented their being removed; but those killed by the Artillery and Rifle fire before the Bridge was taken, were seen to be carried away. In the pursuit, it is supposed that about 70 of the Enemy were killed.

9. As this is but one of many skirmishes it is more than probable the Azimgurh Field Force may be engaged in, during the very arduous operations upon which it is at present employed, I shall refrain, until its conclusion, from bringing to His Excellency's notice such Officers as I deem worthy of special mention. In the mean time, I beg to express my grateful obligations to all Officers and Men, for their cheerful endurance of fatigue and exposure, and to those who have engaged the Enemy for their undeviating gallantry.

I have, &c.,

FROM COLONEL W. L. DAMES,
Commanding at Azimgurh,
To BRIGADIER P. GORDON,
Commanding at Benares.
Dated Azimgurh, 18th April 1858.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor herewith to enclose, for submission to His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, an additional Report furnished by Colonel Lord Mark Kerr, Commanding Her Majesty's 13th Light Infantry, regarding his engagement with the Rebels on the morning of the 6th April.

In forwarding this Report, I beg to state that Colonel Lord Mark Kerr has informed me that the previous Report which he sent to me was drawn up in a most hurried manner, and, owing to the very little time he had at his disposal, he was unable to fill in many details, and mention the names of various Officers who distinguished themselves, as he would have desired.

Lieutenant Collum, of Her Majesty's 37th Regiment, at that time doing duty with Her Majesty's 13th Light Infantry, very much distinguished himself in the engagement of the 6th Instant, by his coolness and bravery. Colonel Lord Mark Kerr states that not knowing his name, he was unable to mention it in his Report; but desires that it may be forwarded in this transmitting letter.

I have the honor to be, &c.

W. L. DAMES, Colonel,
Comdg. at Azimgurh.

FROM COLONEL LORD MARK KERR,
Commanding Field Force.
To THE CHIEF OF THE STAFF,
Dated Azimgurh, 6th April 1858.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to announce, for the information of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief that I have succeeded this day in joining the besieged Azimgurh Garrison.

I left Benares at 10 P. M. on the 2nd Instant, to proceed to Azimgurh by forced marches, with the Troops as per margin. At Sursana, 10 miles from Azimgurh, where I arrived on the 5th Instant, I received pressing letters, at different hours till midnight, from the Staff Officer at Azimgurh, to come on without delay; but thinking it imprudent to risk any thing by a night march, I did not start till 4 P. M. on the 6th. There was a bright moon at that hour, and I moved on with a reconnoitering party of the Bays. At 6 A. M. I observed a mangoe tope and buildings to the left of the road, and also the banked ditches of the fields to the right of it to be crowded with Sepoys. After returning to the Column, and waiting till 7 1/4 o'clock to allow our train of Elephants, Camels, and Carts to close up, Captain Boyd's Company advanced in skirmishing order to the right of the road, and opened fire on the Enemy, hoping to turn their left flank, and so clear the ground for the advance of the Convoy, and succeeded at once in driving the Enemy to a farther line of ditches. But by this time a heavy fire came from the mangoe tope and buildings, and well back on our left flank, and also on the right, where our Skirmishers had driven on the Enemy; large bodies of them were firing from enclosures to our rear. Captain H. Jones, 13th, with his own, Lieutenant Everett, and Lieutenant Gilbert's Companies threw out Skirmishers, with their left thrown back to the left of the road, taking advantage of any cover at hand, and Lieutenant Robertson, Royal Artillery, and 2 Guns, threw shrapnel into the enclosures to the right, at a distance of 500 yards, Lieutenant Hall, 13th, who was soon dangerously wounded, being sent with a sub-division in support, also of Captain Boyd. This continued for some time without producing any effect on the strong defensive point of the Enemy, the buildings and tope, from the branches of which latter a severe fire was kept up for some time.

We were now in a serious position; but such precautions had been taken for our large Convoy that I had no fears for it. When I discovered that it had gone back some distance, I sent Lieutenant Stewart, 13th, an excellent Officer and Horseman, with 25 of the Bays, to the rear. I heard from him, that immediately on the fire opening, every driver and mahout had fled, the former having first turned their Cattle to the rear, and then, after getting them into confusion, absconded. At this time, in rear of the Enemy's Skirmishers on our flanks, were seen their reserves in 1/2 distance Column, and between my small Force and the Rear Guards and Baggage, appeared also large bodies of the Enemy. It was necessary to advance, however; the slightest change of position to the rear caused the Enemy to rise up, and with loud shouts show their numbers all around. I wished to try the effect of the 5 1/2-inch Mortars on the buildings, so necessary to seize; but for this, it was requisite to retire the Gunners and their supports, who would have been struck by the Shells. But I at once saw that I must give up the attempt. A party of Volunteers attempted an assault, after a slight breach had been made by one of the 6 Pounder Guns at a distance of about sixty yards, which the Soldiers were manfully enlarging, when an inner wall appeared, and I re-called the party, and tried the Gun again. One Gun was constantly engaged throwing shrapnel at the Enemy in rear of our right flank. The buildings had been fired at the first; but the Sepoys held them with desperation. Just as I had determined on another assault, they evacuated the place. A pile of dead bodies inside covered the ground to the height of 3 feet. Lieutenant Ormsby, Commanding the Bays, came to the front in pursuit; our whole line advanced; the Skirmishers, thrown back on the left, wheeled rapidly up, and the fight was won. It was now nearly 10 o'clock A. M.

Immediately in our rear there was a high embankment crossing the road. The Enemy had seized on this in great numbers. Captain Wilson-Jones, a most gallant young man, Commanding the Company of the Rear Guard, was killed while leading his Men in the successful attack of it. I had just before sent Major Tyler, 13th, to take Command of the Rear and Baggage Guards, with orders to stand firm, relying on his cool judgment, and I resolved to force my way to Azimgurh, about two miles distant, and return, with Madras Riflemen, whom I knew to be capable, as European Soldiers, are not, of driving the bullocks.

But by the blessing of God, it was unnecessary for me to leave my Convoy, for our advance the Enemy led with extreme rapidity, and when I came upon a village a $\frac{1}{4}$ of a mile to the front, a very strong position, I found scarcely any opposition, and at the same time saw our rear advancing, the drivers, on our success, having returned. On arriving at the Bridge leading across the Nullah towards the entrenchment of Azingurh, I sent a request to Colonel Dames, Commanding Garrison, for assistance in bringing in our Convoy, and one of my Companies to take temporarily the place of my men by night spare. Two Companies of the 37th and Madras Rifles were sent and proved of service. At the Bridge there was firing from the high ground, the other side of the Nullah, well answered by Lieutenant Welsh, Bengal Artillery, with two Guns from the Fort, and a few Skirmishers of the 13th.

I regret to say that my Casualties are severe, one Officer and seven Men killed, and one Officer and thirty three Men wounded, mostly severely or dangerously. But I am certain the Enemy did not number less than 4,000, the 7th, 8th and 40th, so called fighting Regiments of the Sepoy Army among them. Deducting the large number required for the safety of our large Convoy, consisting of 312 Carts, 11 Elephants, 20 Camels, our whole strength in front was about 300 combatants. I am truly thankful to say that all the Officers under my Command behaved with daring courage and resolution. Non-Commissioned Officers and private Soldiers the same. I owe my best thanks to Lieutenant Honorable James Durner, Staff Officer of my Force, and to Ensign Yardley, my Orderly Officer, who both behaved with great coolness under heavy fire. To Lieutenant-Colonel Longden and Mr. Vennables, who accompanied me throughout the day, I am most deeply indebted for their cordial and constant advice and assistance. Major Tyler speaks of invaluable assistance from Quarter Master Hoban, 13th, in many difficulties and dangers with the Convoy.

I have, &c.,

Retefication.

THE Civil Auditor, North-Western Provinces, has the honor to report his annual call to all Disbursing Officers in charge of Civil Establishments in the North-Western Provinces, for the submission (as soon after the 1st May next, as practicable with the April Abstract,) of their regular Annual Detailed Statement, containing the names and full particulars of the whole of the Establishment, and to observe that, with reference to the orders of Government, dated 15th October 1842, published in the Agra Government Gazette, of the 15th November 1842, the Audit of their Abstracts for April next, will be withheld until the receipt of the required Returns.

2nd. To facilitate check, it is particularly requested that the Abstract for April be sub-divided into distinct headings, so that each description of Office with its total shall correspond with the details given in the Statement of Establishment for the 1st May.

3rd. It is also requested that the three separate Lists prescribed for all Uncovenanted Servants, Europeans, East Indians, and Natives (in the last the names of only those holding appointments of trust and responsibility should be inserted,) employed on their Establishments, be furnished for 1st May 1858, without delay.

Extract from a Letter, No. 2137, dated 4th January, 1858, from the Director General of the Post Office in India, to the Offg. Post-master General of Bengal.

"I have the honor to inform you that all Letters and printed Papers addressed to France, or via Marseilles to any Foreign Country, the route to which lies through France, must be charged with Indian Inland Postage. Steam Postage cannot be pre-paid on such Letters."

(True Extract)

C. K. DOVE,

Offg. Post-master General of Bengal.

The Right Honorable the Governor General in Council has resolved that until further orders, all Letters addressed by European Non-Commissioned Officers and Soldiers on service to their wives and families in India may be sent free of Postage, as on the public service, under the signature of their Commanding Officer.

(Signed)

C. BEADON,

Secretary to the Government of India.

H. B. RIDDELL,

Director General of the Post Office in India.

CALCUTTA, }
The 3rd February 1858.

THE Public are informed that Letters and Printed ... for any place in France, or to be sent direct through France to any part of Foreign Europe, should be marked via France, and that Steam-postage on such Letters or Papers cannot be paid in India.

All Letters marked via Marseilles will be sent in the ordinary iron boxes to the London Post Office, and on such Letters the pre-payment of postage in India is optional. The postage paid in India, except in the case of Belgium Letters, does not frank any Letters beyond England.

THE Public are informed that the Government Bullock Train having been entirely taken up for the conveyance of Commissariat and Ordnance Stores, no other Packages can be received and forwarded as Bullock Train Goods, until further notice.

No. 106 of 1858.—The Right Hon'ble the Governor General is pleased to publish for general information, the following Letter from Brigadier-General R. Walpole, Commanding Field Force reporting further successes in his operations against the Rebels:—

FROM

BRIGADIER-GENERAL R. WALPOLE

Commanding Field Force

TO

THE CHIEF OF THE STAFF,

Camp Allahgunge, 22nd April 1858

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to acquaint you, for the information of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, that I marched at daylight this morning from Sewajpore.* Just before we arrived at Sirsae, where

I had intended to encamp, the advanced guard came on the Enemy, who were in great force, both Cavalry and Infantry. I brought up the Field Guns and some Infantry to the front, and sent the Cavalry to our right. The Enemy retreated to a village, from which they opened fire on us with 4 Guns. We advanced and our Horse Artillery opened with great effect upon it, and in a short time they retreated, taking off their Guns. We advanced, took their Guns, the Cavalry pressing their left and rear.

We followed them about six miles to this place, killing a great many the whole way, and got possession of the Bridge here, where I halted, and have pitched my Camp. We have killed certainly as many as five or six hundred, have taken a great quantity of ammunition, hackeries, grain and their camp. Our loss, as far as I can learn, is one man killed, and three or four wounded.

I will send particulars to-morrow.

I have, &c.,

SIR,

I HAVE the honor, by desire of the Commander in-Chief, to transmit for submission to the Right Hon'ble the Governor General, a Despatch dated 26th Ultimo, from Major-General Sir H. Rose, K. C. B., Commanding Forwards a Despatch from Major-General Sir Hugh Rose, reporting the operations of the 2nd Brigade of the Central India Field Force, subsequent to the capture of the Fort of Garrakota.

Central India Field Force, reporting the operations of the 2nd Brigade of the Force subsequent to the capture of the Fort of Garrakota, embracing the forcing of the pass of Mudinpoor, and capture of the Forts of Serai and Marowra.

2. His Excellency considers that these operations were most skilfully conducted.

I have the honor to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient Servant,

H. W. NORMAN, Major,

Depty. Adjt. Genl. of the Army.

FROM

MAJOR-GENL. SIR HUGH ROSE, K. C. B.

TO

MAJOR-GENERAL MANSFIELD,

Chief of the Staff,

Cawnpore.

Camp before Jhansie, 26th March 1858.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report to you, for the information of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, the operations of the 2nd Brigade of the Central India Field Force, under my orders, since the capture of the Fort of Garrakota.

A halt of four days at Saugor was necessary for the repair of my Siege Guns; I therefore marched back to Saugor, in two days, leaving Major Boileau, with the Sappers and Miners, at Garrakota, to demolish all he could of its defences.

The Rebels had held a steep and thickly wooded hill, a few miles to the North of Garrakota, which gave them the command of the road to Dumoh; after the fall of Garrakota they then abandoned it, leaving open the communications between Saugor and Dumoh.

My Siege Artillery was ready in four days, on the 18th Instant. But want of supplies, caused by the devastation of the Saugor and the neighbouring Districts by the Rebels, and other circumstances, did not allow me to leave Saugor till the 27th Instant.

This delay did away, very much, with the good effects of the speedy fall of Garrakota. The Rebels not seeing any further operations or movements to the front against them, regained courage, and occupied again in force, the strong positions in the Shaghar and adjoining Districts, such as the Forts of Serai and Marowra, and the difficult passes in the mountainous ridges which separate the Shaghar and Saugor Districts.

These passes are three in number. The pass of Narut, and the Fort of Carnelguri near Malihone, of Mudinpoor, and of Dharmoney.

My object was to reach Jhansie, against which I was ordered to move, as quickly as I could; but on my road there, I wished to take up my 1st Brigade, which I had marched from Mhow and Indore to Gonnah, for the purpose, as previously stated, of clearing and opening the Grand Trunk Road from Bombay to Agra, in obedience to my instructions.

I anticipated resistance to my advance on Jhansie at the passes, the Forts of Serai, Marowra, and Thal-Behut, at which latter place, it was said that the Rajah of Banpore intended to make his last stand.

It was also affirmed by some, but denied by others, that the Fort of Chundeyree, to the West of the River Betwa, formerly a family possession of the Raja of Banpore, would be defended.

It was necessary that the 1st Brigade, on the West, and the 2nd Brigade on the East of the Betwa, should be concentrated for the attack of Jhansie.

I determined to force these obstacles to the forward movement of my Force, and to the union of my 1st and 2nd Brigade; and accordingly gave orders to Brigadier Stuart, Commanding my 1st Brigade, to move from Goonah Westwards, and take Chundeyree, whilst I forced my way Northwards, and crossing the Betwa, march with both Brigades against Jhansie.

An operation against the passes was more than usually difficult, on account of the great length of my line of march. For knowing the danger of a want of ammunition, I took with me abundant reserves of it, having besides to take care of a convoy of fifteen days' supplies for my Force, and its Camp-Followers.

The pass of Narut was, by far the most difficult, and the Enemy having taken it into their head that I must pass through it, had increased its natural difficulties, by barricading the road with abatis, and parapets made of large boulders of rock, 15 feet thick; all passage by the sides of the road being made impracticable by the almost precipitous hills, covered with jungle, which came down to the edge of the road. The Rajah of Banpore, who is both enterprising and courageous, defended this pass with 8 or 10,000 men.

The next most difficult pass was Dhamooney; very little was known about the third, Mudinapore, except that in the Ordnance Map it was described as "good for Guns."

Under these circumstances, I requested Major Orr to reconnoitre these passes, whilst I was detained at Saugor for supplies.

Supplies for my Force having come into Saugor, I marched from that place on the 27th Instant to Rijwass, a central point from which I could move against any one of these passes. Major Orr's Force joined me at Rijwass; with his usual intelligence, he had collected information which made me select the pass of Mudinapore for my point of attack.

In order to deceive the Enemy as to my intention,

Major Scudamore's Force.

and prevent the Rajah of Banpore from coming from the pass of Narut to the assistance of the Rajah of Shaghar, who defended Mudinapore, I made a serious feint against Narut by sending Major Scudamore, Commanding H. M.'s 14th Light Dragoons, with the Force stated in the margin, with their tents and baggage, to the Fort and Town of Malthone, just above the pass of Narut, whilst I made the real attack on the pass of Mudinapore. Having taken the ruined little Fort of Barodia, and left a small Garrison in it, a ridge of hills on our right, near the village of Noonce. I sent up a party of the Salt Customs under Mr. Bartie, who advancing, drove them back.

At about 800 yards from the entrance of the pass, we saw the Enemy in force on the hills, on the left of the pass. Major Orr made some good practice at them with round shot, and spherical case.

The pass was formed by a sudden descent of the road into a deep glen, thickly wooded. To the right further on, the road ran along the side of a lake. The left of the road was lined by rocky and precipitous hills.

The ardour of an excellent Officer induced him at this time, to make an incautious movement with his Guns to his right front, with the view to pour an enfilading fire into the Enemy. But he had not taken into consideration that this movement brought him to within fifty or sixty yards of the edge of the glen, in which lay concealed, some hundred Sepoys, who, before he could unlimber, opened a very heavy fire on his Guns, which he was unable to depress on them. The Sepoys fortunately fired too quick, and too high, and the Officer retired his Guns out of the range of their musketry, with only a few Casualties. The Sepoys hailed this little reverse with shouts. But their success had only brought on their more rapid defeat. For knowing now their exact position, and seeing the necessity of showing them that a calm retreat was only the prelude of a rapid offensive, I advanced 100 of the Hyderabad Contingent Infantry under Captain Sinclair, at double time, and made them charge into the glen, bring their right shoulders forward, and sweep it down towards the road, following this up by a movement of a Company of the 3rd Europeans, against the front of the Sepoys, and of the Salt Customs from the extreme right, against their rear. To still further discomfit them, I sent a Troop of Her Majesty's 14th Light Dragoons, to a knoll, quite in rear of the glen, and commanding a view of the Lake, and the other end of the pass. The Rebels were driven with loss from the glen, and crossing the road, ascended the hill on its left, for the purpose of joining the large body of Rebels, who occupied the hills divided by ravines on the left of the road. The Troop of Horse Artillery would have swept them away with grape, had not the Officer Commanding it mistaken the Rebels, on account of the similarity of dress, for Men of the Salt Customs.

Not giving the Rebels time to breathe, I directed Captain Macdonald, my Assistant Quarter-Master General, to storm the hill, to the left of the road, with two Companies of the 3rd Europeans. Captain Macdonald conducted them ably and gallantly, up the almost precipitous height, and extending the Grenadier Company from the

to keep up my communications, I marched on the 3rd Instant, against the pass of Muslinpore, with the Force stated in the margin. As the Column approached the pass, the Enemy's skirmishers fired on the Advanced guard, from night, and supporting them with the other Companies, drove them from the first to the second line of hills. As soon as Lieutenant-Colonel Liddell had come up, with the rest of the 3rd Europeans, I moved him up the hill, in support of his Companies, directing him to advance, and drive the Enemy successively from all the hills commanding the pass. He performed this movement entirely to my satisfaction.

The glens and hills which protected the pass having been taken, I sent Captain Abbott, with the 4th Hyderabad Cavalry to clear the pass, and drive in the Enemy's front; this he did effectually.

The Enemy, repulsed in flank and front, retired to the village of Mudinapore, in rear of the end of the Lake. The village was fortified by a formidable work, in the shape of a bund of great thickness of earth and solid masonry, which dammed up the Lake. The Enemy had placed the few Guns they had in rear of the bund, and had been firing with them on the 3rd Europeans on the hill.

The pass having been gained, I sent directions to Brigadier Stewart, whom I had halted in rear of the pass, with the Reserve and Siege Train to advance through it, and occupy the head of the Lake. As soon as they had arrived, I opened with the 8-Inch Howitzer, and the 9-Pounders in advance of it, a fire on the Rebel Guns.

At this time I received a message from the Officer Commanding the Rear Guard, that the Enemy had fired, from the range of hills running to the pass of Narut, on him and his long line of baggage. I had all along thought it likely, that the Rajah of Banpore might come to the aid of the Rebels at Mudinapore: as soon as he discovered that the move of Major Scudamore, was a feint, and my attack the real one. I therefore sent a Troop of Her Majesty's 14th Light Dragoons and a Regiment of Hyderabad Cavalry, to cover the Rear Guard.

A few rounds drove the Enemy from their position in rear of the bund, and they retired from Mudinapore, through the jungle, towards the Fort of Serai.

I directed Major Orr to pursue, with the remainder of the Hyderabad Cavalry.

The Cavalry which I had detached with Major Scudamore, and to assist the Rear Guard, rendered the Force, available for the pursuit, small.

Major Orr, and Captain Abbott under him, pursuing, along the road, through the jungle, came up with the rear of the Rebels, consisting principally of the 52nd Bengal Native Infantry, and killed a good many of them, amongst the number, the notorious Mutineer, Lall Turladio, who, as a rebel Major of the 52nd, was instigator of the mutiny in that Regiment, and whom they made their Commanding Officer.

I owe my acknowledgments to Major Orr and Captain Abbott for their conduct on this occasion. Captain Pinkney, who accompanied my Force as Political Agent at Jhansie, distinguished himself in the pursuit.

I marched the Force several miles beyond the pass, into an open and level country. The line of baggage was so long that it did not come up till the next day; but owing to the precautions I had taken, it did not sustain the slightest loss.

The results of the success at Mudinapore were as numerous as they were favorable. My Force had got into the rear of the passes, and the Enemy's line of defences, of which they thought so much. The pass of Narut considered by them to be impregnable was turned.

Mudinapore, it is true, was the weakest of the passes; but, on the other hand, it had been defended by the Sepoys of the 52nd and other Regiments, and by 7,000 picked Bundeelas. The Sepoys and the Bundeelas quarrelled, the former declaring that the latter had run away, and left them to fight at the pass; general mistrust, and a panic ensued in the Rebel Camp.

The Fort of Serai, or Soyrage, a fortified Palace of the Rajah of Shalghur, perfect in architecture, now used as an Arsenal for the manufacture of powder and shot, fell the next day into the hands of my Troops. The dyes of the old Saugor Mint, from which the Rebels were making balls, were found here, in quantities.

The day after, I took possession of Marowra, an ancient Fort with a double line of defences, in an important position, on the road from Saugor to Jhansie, and from Shalghur to Malthone.

The Shalghur Territory was attached to the British possessions by Sir Robert Hamilton, and in consequence, the British Flag was hoisted on the Fort of Marowra in presence of my Brigade.

The passes of Narut and Dhamooney were abandoned, and Sir Robert Hamilton established a Police Station at Malthone.

In fact, the whole country between Saugor and Jhansie, to the East of the River Betwa, which, since the outbreak of the rebellion, had been in the hands of the Insurgents, was now, with the exception of Thal-Belut, restored to the Government.

I beg leave to recommend to your Excellency, for their conduct at the forcing of the pass of Mudinapore, Lieutenant-Colonel Liddell; Major Scudamore, for the skilful manner in which he conducted the feint against Malthone, which neutralized the Force of the Rajah of Banpore; Major Orr; Capt. Abbott; Capt. Sindare; Captain Macdonald, Assistant Quarter-Master General; and Mr. Bartie, Commanding the Salt Customs Police, who had a short time before been strongly recommended for his gallant conduct in attacking the Rebel's position at Dhamooney.

I have the honor to enclose a list of the Casualties in forcing the pass.

I have the honor to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient Servant,

Head Quarters Futelehghur,
The 26th April 1858.

SIR,

I HAVE now the honor, by desire of the Commander in-Chief, to transmit for the information of the Right Hon'ble the Governor General, a detailed Report from Brigadier-General R. Walpole, dated 23rd Instant, of his successful affair near Allahgunge on the previous day, when 4 Guns were captured and considerable loss inflicted on the Enemy.

2. The Action was one of Horse Artillery and Cavalry, and both these arms appear to His Excellency to have highly distinguished themselves.

I have the honor, to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient Servant,

H. W. NORMAN,

Depy. Adj. Genl. of the Army.

FROM

BRIGDR-GENL. R. WALPOLE,
Commanding Field Force.

TO

THE CHIEF OF THE STAFF.
Camp Allahgunge, 23rd April 1858.

SIR,

I transmitted yesterday a short account of the defeat of that portion of the Rebel Force which occupied the villages on the left bank of the Ram Gunga, from Allahgunge to Hissore. I have now the honor to forward for the information of His Excellency the Commander in-Chief, a more detailed Report of that operation.

I marched at daylight on the 22nd Instant from Sewajpore, intending to encamp in the neighbourhood of Sirsie, and to proceed to the place the following day. However, on the Advanced Guard approaching Sirsie, the Enemy was discovered in our front. I rode forward to reconnoitre and ordered up Major Remington's Troop of Horse Artillery and the Infantry, desiring the heavy Guns to follow, and made the following dispositions. Four Guns of Lieutenant-Colonel Tombs' Troop of Horse Artillery, (two being of the Rear Guard) supported by a Squadron of 9th Lancers and 100 Infantry, all which Troops formed the Advanced Guard, occupied the left flank. Major Remington's 9-Pounder Troop was directed to its right, and the main body of the Cavalry, consisting of 9th Lancers and 2nd Punjaub Irregulars, under Brigadier Hagart, was placed on the extreme right to protect that flank from the numerous Cavalry of the Enemy, and with instructions to sweep round the Enemy's left as soon as the moment they retired, with the hope of getting any Guns they might endeavour to save. I knew, from having occupied the right bank of the Ram Gunga during the winter, that the left was covered by that river, and that from the great bend it takes beyond the villages of Mool and Jeraipore, our Cavalry would be useless on our left flank.

We advanced in the above order some distance crossing the Sende Nuldee, when the Enemy opened fire upon us with their Guns, which were placed in the village of Hoolapoor, upon which they had retired, and where they made their stand. Their fire was rapid and good, the shot plunging among our Artillery, but doing little damage. Lieutenant-Colonel Tombs' Troop advanced rapidly to within six or seven hundred yards of the village and opened upon it; Major Remington's Troop soon after followed, taking ground to its right. The Guns of these two Troops were so well served that, in about 20 minutes, those of the Enemy appeared to be silenced.

I now perceived the Enemy streaming in large numbers from the rear of the village; our whole line advanced, Lieutenant-Colonel Tombs' Troop on one side of the village, Major Remington's on the other. On the extreme right, just at this place, there was a thick jungle which prevented Brigadier Hagart turning their left flank at this point; but Major Remington's Guns having been ordered to accompany him, the jungle was soon cleared, and he advanced between it and Hoolapoor, and as the Enemy's Guns, which had been withdrawn from that village, were being carried off, three of them were gallantly captured by Captain Wilkinson's Troop of the 9th Lancers, he being supported by Lieutenant Richardest with a Troop of 2nd Punjab Cavalry, and every man with the Guns was killed. A fourth Gun was taken by the Cavalry during the rout that followed.

We now advanced with an extended front, one Squadron 9th Lancers, Lieutenant-Colonel Tombs' Guns, and the Infantry which had formed the Advanced Guard on the left, Major Remington's Guns, and the Cavalry under Brigadier Hagart, to the right rather in advance, and swept the whole country, driving the Enemy through the villages of Nebonuggra and Jerapoor, at the latter of which their camp was captured, and then through Champutteapoor and Saibgunge as far as Allahgunge, where they had a bridge-of-boats protected by a breast-work pierced for Guns. Having secured this Town, and the pursuit having continued for six miles, I considered it advisable to halt, and I sent for my baggage and pitched my Camp.

Nizam Ali Khan, who Commanded, was killed in the Action, and some documents were found in his Tent, one describing the preparations he had made for stopping the advance of the English.

The loss of the Enemy must have amounted in the whole to between five and six hundred, and we captured 4 Guns, the Enemy's Camp, ammunition, stores and grain in large quantities.

Our loss, I am happy to say, was small, very small, considering the results obtained; it consisted of one man killed and six wounded.

I am particularly indebted to Brigadier Hagart, for the admirable manner in which he conducted the operations of the Cavalry on the right. I beg also to return my best thanks to Major Brind, Bengal Artillery, for his exertions, and the able manner in which he commanded the Artillery, and to Lieutenant-Colonel Tombs, and Major Remington, commanding Troops of Horse Artillery, for the excellent management of their Guns which drove the Enemy from their position at Hoolapoor with great loss. Brigadier Hagart speaks in great praise of Captain Coles, Commanding 9th Lancers, and Captain Browne, Commanding 2nd Punjab Irregular Cavalry. I have on all occasions experienced great assistance from these Officers. The Brigadier also expresses his obligations to Captain Sarel, 17th Lancers, Brigade-Major to the Cavalry Brigade, and to Lieutenant Gore, 7th Hussars, who acted as his Orderly Officer; and Major Brind speaks in high terms of Lieutenant Bunny, Bengal Artillery, his Staff Officer.

I beg to record the assistance I received from my Staff, Captain Barwell, Deputy Assistant Adjutant General, Captain Carey, Deputy Assistant Quarter-Master General, Captain Warner, Aide-de-Camp, and Lieutenant Eccles, Extra Aide-de-Camp.

The Action was fought with Artillery and Cavalry, and the pursuit was so rapid, there was no chance for the Infantry taking a part in it.

I have learnt to-day, that the Enemy who were posted at Jelalabad, on the fugitives reaching that place, and on their hearing of the death of Nizam Ali Khan, evacuated the Fort there the same evening, and have proceeded, it is supposed, towards Bareilly.

I have, &c.,

No. 121.

• FROM

MAJOR-GENERAL G. WHITLOCK,
Comdg. Saugor F. Div.

To

MAJOR-GENERAL MANSFIELD,
Chief of the Staff.

Camp Logassie, 12th April 1858.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report, for the information of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief of India, that Major Ellis, Political Assistant in Bundelcund, having acquainted me that 2,000 Rebels had collected at Jheeghun, one of their strongholds and the depôt for their plunder, distant about seventeen miles from Chutterpore, I decided on making a night march with the view of surprising them.

The Force marched at 8 P. M., on the 9th Instant, but from the intricacies of the road, and ignorance of the guides, it was still four miles from Jheeghun, at 5 A. M. on the following morning. The only chance now of a surprise was by a rapid advance of mounted Troops, and I immediately moved with the A Troop Horse Artillery, two Squadrons of Lancers, and Detachment of Ressallah Hyderabad Contingent. The result was satisfactory; the Rebels, leisurely evacuating their position, were unprepared for our sudden appearance.

The Artillery opened, and the Cavalry, gallantly dashing amongst them, committed much havoc.

A portion of Cavalry and Guns were moved to intercept their flight; this was successful.

Under a fire of matchlocks, and through jungle which had been set on fire to impede pursuit, but unavailing, our Troops came up with the Rebels, and the slaughter was heavy.

To follow further without Infantry (for the jungle was becoming dense) would have been as useless as imprudent, and the Force returned to Camp, leaving 97 Rebels dead on the field, and bringing with them 39 Prisoners.

Daasput, the Rebel Chief, long the terror of the District, narrowly escaped capture; he had just returned from Jhanai.

His two nephews, named Beonijao and Jheet Sing, equally notorious for their villainies, fell into our hands, and with seven other prisoners were hanged on the evening. A large portion of baggage, cattle, grain, matchlock, ammunition, and some percussion caps, were found; the latter, with articles of uniform stamped Bengal Artillery, lead me to believe that some of the Mutineers must have been present.

The conduct of all the Troops employed gave me much satisfaction, and I only regretted that the Infantry, after a toilsome and wandering night's march, had not an opportunity of being brought into contact with the Rebels.

The village and stronghold has been completely destroyed under the superintendence of our Field Engineer, and the Thakoor of Logassie has expressed his gratification at such a horde of bad-mashes being driven from his neighbourhood. Our Casualties were two of the Ressallah wounded, and one Horse missing.

I have, &c.,

R. J. H. BIRCH, Colonel,

with the Governor General.

Foreign Department,Allahabad, the 30th April 1858.

The following Proclamation was issued in the Province of Oude, by order of the Governor General of India, in the month of March.

G. F. EDMONSTONE,

Secy. to the Govt. of India,with the Governor General.

PROCLAMATION.

THE Army of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief is in possession of Lucknow, and the City lies at the mercy of the British Government, whose Authority it has for nine months rebelliously defied and resisted.

This resistance, begun by a mutinous soldiery, has found support from the inhabitants of the City, and of the Province of Oude at large. Many who owed their prosperity to the British Government, as well as those who believed themselves aggrieved by it, have joined in this bad cause, and have ranged themselves with the Enemies of the State.

They have been guilty of a great crime, and have subjected themselves to a just retribution.

The Capital of their Country is now once more in the hands of the British Troops. From this day it will be held by a Force which nothing can withstand, and the Authority of the Government will be carried into every corner of the Province.

The time then has come at which the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India deems it right to make known the mode, in which the British Government will deal with the Talookdars, Chiefs, and Landholders of Oude, and their followers.

The first care of the Governor General will be to reward those, who have been steadfast in their allegiance at a time, when the Authority of the Government was partially over-borne, and who have proved this by the support and assistance which they have given to British Officers.

Therefore the Right Hon'ble the Governor General hereby declares that Drigbyjee Singh, Raja of Bulhampore, Koolwunt Singh, Raja of Puthalia, Rao Hudeeo Baksh Singh, of Kutiarao, Kashoo Parshad, Talookdar of Sissaindee, Zuber Singh, Zemindar of Gopal Khair, and Chundee Lal, Zemindar of Mernon (Baiswarah) are henceforward the sole hereditary proprietors of the lands which they held when Oude came under British Rule, subject only to such moderate assessment as may be imposed upon them; and that these loyal Men will be further rewarded in such manner, and to such extent, as, upon consideration of their merits and their position, the Governor General shall determine.

A proportionate measure of reward and honor, according to their deserts, will be conferred upon others in whose favor like claims may be established to the satisfaction of the Government.

The Governor General further proclaims to the people of Oude, that, with the above-mentioned exceptions, the proprietary right in the soil of the Province is confiscated to the British Government, which will dispose of that right in such manners as to it may seem fitting.

To those Talookdars, Chiefs, and Landholders, with their followers, who shall make immediate submission to the Chief Commissioner of Oude, surrendering their arms and obeying his orders, the Right Hon'ble the Governor General promises, that their lives and honor shall be safe, provided that their hands are not stained with English blood murderously shed. But as regards any further indulgence which may be extended to them, and the condition in which they may hereafter be placed, they must throw themselves upon the justice and mercy of the British Government.

To those amongst them, who shall promptly come forward and give to the Chief Commissioner their support in the restoration of peace and order, this indulgence will be large, and the Governor General will be ready to view liberally the claims which they may thus acquire to a restitution of their former rights.

As participation in the murder of Englishmen or English women will exclude those who are guilty of it from all mercy, so will those, who have protected English lives, be specially entitled to consideration and leniency.

EXTRAORDINARY.

ALLAHABAD, FRIDAY, APRIL 30, 1858.

No. 109.

Home Department,Allahabad, the 30th April 1858.

It is the melancholy duty of the Right Hon'ble the Governor General, to announce the death of that most distinguished Officer, Captain Sir William Peel, K. C. B., late in Command of Her Majesty's Ship Shannon, and of the Naval Brigade in the North-Western Provinces.

Sir William Peel died at Cawnpore on the 27th Instant, of Small-pox. He had been wounded at the commencement of the last advance upon Lucknow, but had nearly recovered from the wound, and was on his way to Calcutta, when struck by the disease which has brought his honorable career to an early close.

Sir William Peel's services in the field during the last seven months are well known in India and in England. But it is not so well known how great the value of his presence and example has been, wherever, during this eventful period, his duty has led him.

The loss of his daring but thoughtful courage, joined with eminent abilities, is a very heavy one to his Country; but it is not more to be deplored than the loss of that influence, which his earnest character, admirable temper, and gentle kindly bearing exercised over all within his reach: an influence, which was exerted unceasingly for the public good, and of which, the Governor General believes that it may with truth be said that there is not a man of any rank or profession, who, having been associated with Sir William Peel in these times of anxiety and danger, has not felt and acknowledged it.

By order of the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India.

G. F. EDMONSTONE,

Secy to the Govt. of India,with the Govr. Genl.

TENDERS for the transportation of Salt, from the Central and Southern Agencies of Orissa, to the Government Godowns at Salka, will be received at this Office, until 2 P. M. of the 31st July next, after which date no such Tenders will be received.

2. The Tenders must be drawn up according to a form which may be obtained on application at this Office; and no communications otherwise submitted, will be attended to.

3. The contracts to be entered into, will be for one year only, namely, for the ensuing season 1858-59.

4. Parties tendering must satisfy the Board of Revenue and the Commissioner of Cuttack, that they possess the means of conveying the full quantity of Salt tendered for, and with this object a list of the vessels intended to be employed, must accompany each Tender.

5. The probable quantity of Salt to be removed may be known on application at this Office, the proportion for which freight is required being one-third of the entire amount, less one Lac of maunds, of the exportable Salt of the Cuttack and Pooree Agencies. The Tenderer may apply for the whole quantity for which freight is required, or for any part not less than a quarter.

6. Contractors must engage to ship the Salt allotted to them during the period between the last spring tides of October and the end of February.

7. Parties whose tenders are accepted will be required to make a deposit of Company's Paper, or to furnish other unexceptionable security for the performance of their contracts.

8. The Board reserve to themselves the right of rejecting any tender without assigning any reason.

Fort William, Financial Department,
The 28th April 1858.

Notifications.—The following Extract from a Despatch from the Hon'ble the Court of Directors, addressed to the Government of India, in the Financial Department, No. 10 of 1858, dated the 16th February, is published for general information:—

Letter from, dated 8th June 1857, No. 82.

Reports Proceedings of the Government of India, in the Financial Department, for the 1st Quarter of 1858.

Paras. 111 and 112.—Under the circumstances represented by the Chief Commissioner of the Punjab, have sanctioned the Rule by which Military Officers on Staff employ, Trans-Indus, are allowed two months' indulgence leave consecutively being made applicable to Military Officers in Civil employ in the Trans-Indus Territories.

Para. 13.—The privilege of two consecutive months' indulgence leave originally granted to Military Officers on Staff employ in the Peshawar Valley, on account of the distance of the District from the Presidency or any Sanitarium, has been extended, for the same reason, to the Trans-Indus Territories. We do not, however, think it advisable that this privilege should be allowed to any Military Officers in Civil employ, who, while holding Civil appointments, must abide by the Regulations of the Civil Service on this respect.

FROM

BRIGADIER M. CARTHAW,

Commandg. Madras Troops in Bengal.

TO

THE DEPY. ASST. ADJT. GENL.,

Cawnpore Division.

Cawnpore, 1st December 1857.

SIR,

IN reply to your letter of this day's date, I have the honor to submit for the information of Major-General Windham, Commanding the Cawnpore Division, the following Report on my defence of the Bridge and Bithoor road, on the 28th Ultimo.

At day-light on the 28th of November, I proceeded, according to instructions, with Her Majesty's 84th Regiment, two Companies of Her Majesty's 82nd Regiment, and four Guns of Madras Native Artillery, to take up a position at the Racket Court, two Companies of Her Majesty's 64th Regiment having been placed in the Baptist Chapel to keep up communication with me. When within a few hundred yards of the Racket Court, I received instructions through the late Captain
